CANDIDATES IN LAST MINUTE VOTE DRIVE

Campaigns Speed Up as Election Day, Tuesday, Nov. 3, Draws Near.

MAYOR RACE GROWS HOT

Voters in All Precincts in County To Go to Polls; Special Issues Up.

With the election only four days away, candidates and party groups were in the last lap of the fall campaign today. Political organizations are busy in a final effort to bring out a heavy vote next Tuesday when city, village, township and school officials are elected and special levies and the state bond issue are voted on.

Votes will be cast in all of the county's 69 precincts. Districts outside the city of Marion will elect two school board members, and every voter will be given opportunity to act on the proposed $7,500,000 state bond issue to rehabilitate penal, correctional and charity institutions.

City Election

The city will elect municipal officers, two members of the school board, a municipal judge, and will vote on township trustees. Special issues to come before Marionites include the state bond issue, and a one-mill levy for poor relief.

Villages and townships also will elect officers, and members will be chosen for every school district board of education in the county.

In the city, interest in the election will center around the mayoralty fight in which W. C. Phillians, Republican, L. Don Jones, Democratic incumbent, and Jesse A. Warrick, Independent, are engaged.

Candidates for city offices follow:

City Candidates

Democrats—L. Don Jones of 131 south Grand avenue, mayor; C. E. Merkel of 325 Mt. Vernon avenue, president of council; Harry G. Baker of 583 Woodrow avenue, auditor; Harry T. Bell of 531 north Main street, treasurer; G. R. Henney of 324 Windsor street, Morris W. Kline of 291 Thew avenue and F. R. McDaniel of 317 Silver street, councilman-at-large; Irven Prettyman of 604 east George street, first ward councilman; W. M. Fabian of 379 Silver street, second ward councilman; J. A. Hiller of 505 Davids street, third ward councilman; M. D. Metz of 478 Cherry street, fourth ward

GRAND JURY GETS DR. SUTER'S CASE

Dentist Pleads Not Guilty To Ashland Kidnaping Charge.

By International News Service

ASHLAND, O., Oct. 30—Waiving examination and entering a plea of not guilty through his attorney, Dr. F. R. Suter, Mansfield dentist, charged with an attempted extortion plot, today was bound over to the Ashland county grand jury by Police Judge J. L. Mason.

Bond for Dr. Suter was fixed at $3,000. Failing to furnish the bond immediately, he was returned to county jail.

Dr. Suter is charged with attempting to extort $1,000 from T. W. Miller, millionaire Ashland rubber manufacturer, on threats of kidnaping his 8-year-old son Parker.

Despite a seven-hour grilling yesterday, Dr. Suter today still maintained a complete innocence of the charges, police stated.

Results of an examination of Dr. Suter's handwriting used in three threatening letters demanding money which were received by the Miller family this month were in the hands of police today but they refused to make them known. William G. Pengelly, noted handwriting expert of Columbus, who was retained in the Don Mellett murder trials, made the examination.

Dr. Suter was arrested in Mansfield after the Millers had received three letters and three telephone calls from a man demanding $1,000 or he would kidnap the Millers' son.

PUT EMPLOYMENT LEGISLATION FIRST

By The Associated Press

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 30—The western governors' conference has adopted resolutions urging congress, at its December session, to give unemployment legislation precedence over all other matters. Congress was asked to provide for an "enlarged and accelerated program of public works, including highways, river and harbor improvement, public buildings and reclamation projects" to alleviate unemployment.

SUIT SETTLED FOR $5,000

TIFFIN, O., Oct. 30—Suit by Mrs. Ella Jones of Fostoria for $50,000 against the Toledo, Fostoria & Findlay Railway company because of the death of her 20-year-old son, Kenneth, when he came in contact with a power line in 1930, has been settled for $5,000.

RALLS APPEAL BEFORE WHITE

Executive Clemency Only Remaining Hope for Sheriff Slayers.

DIE IN CHAIR TONIGHT

Governor Likely To Follow Recommendation of Ohio Parole Board.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 30—Barring executive intervention, Walter Ralls, 32, and his nephew, Blanton Ralls, 21, Negroes, will die in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary tonight. They were convicted of slaying Sheriff George Davenport of Crawford county, last Jan. 23.

The Negroes denied a review of their case by the Ohio supreme court, were granted a hearing before the state board of parole at 2 p. m. today to permit an appeal for commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment. Governor George White, with whom rests the final decision is expected to follow the board's recommendation.

Davenport was fatally shot when he attempted to arrest the men at their home in Crestline for stealing chickens. A third Negro, Elijah Ralls, brother of Walter, also was charged with the killing, but he was slain when he attempted to escape after the trio had been arrested.

COUNTY TEACHERS AT DISTRICT MEET

160 from Schools Outside City at Dayton Conference Today.

One hundred and sixty school teachers and supervisors from Marion county were among the 31,000 Ohio teachers assembled at regional meetings in Cleveland, Toledo, Cincinnati, Athens and Dayton today. Marion county teachers are in Dayton.

The county schools were closed today to enable teachers and other instructors to attend the meetings today and Saturday.

Educators from far sections of the nation addressed the meetings on problems of education, according to the United Press. Organization meetings and elections were scheduled for late today. Among matters on the calendars was discussion of financial stringencies which have caused temporary closing of schools in several localities and failure of boards to pay teachers' salaries.

Marion city school teachers sent two delegates to the Dayton meeting. They are Misses Helen Atchison, a teacher at the Indiana avenue building, and Irene Epler, a teacher at the Pearl street building. Marion city teachers did not attend the meeting this week-end in a group, planning to attend a Columbus meeting next spring.

C. A. Flickinger of Akron today was elected president of the Northeastern Ohio Teachers' association in convention at Cleveland according to the Associated Press. Approximately 15,000 persons are attending the Cleveland meet.

DISCUSSES EDUCATION

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., Oct. 30—Sounding a warning to colleges and students attending them that mere attendance at universities and like places of learning is not sufficient proof of an education, Dr. Burgess Johnson, director of public relations and professor of English at Syracuse university, addressed the more than 5,000 teachers at the Central Ohio Teachers association meeting here today.

WIFE WINNING CONTEST

NORWALK, O., Oct. 30—Sixteen shots from 1,000 spectators, O. Kellerhals of Wakeman, O., won the Huron county corn husking contest Thursday at the farm of Dan Heydenfeldt, seven miles east of here. He husked 17 bushels and 10 pounds in an hour and 20 minutes.

HOOVER FIGHTS CRITICS OF HIS NAVAL POLICY

Reported To Be Shaping Up New Attack on League.

IS EXPECTING APOLOGY

Serves Notice on League Head After Outlining Plan for Inquiry.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—President Hoover was described at the White House today as shaping a fresh attack upon the criticism of his policies by the Navy League designed "to show the true purpose of these falsehoods and the people who are interested in propagandizing them."

This statement supplemented a spectacular announcement by President Hoover last night that he would appoint a committee to investigate "untruths and distortions of fact" concerning his naval policy, which he said had been disseminated by William H. Gardiner, president of the league.

Expects Apology

The President then served notice he would expect a public apology and a correction of Gardiner's "misstatements."

The navy league president, earlier, had accused the chief executive of an "abysmal ignorance" of naval needs and an effort to "starve" the navy.

Theodore Joslin, one of the President's secretaries, today made the following statement:

"The objects of the President's inquiry are first, to call the attention of the country and members of the Navy League to the tissue of falsehoods that have been spread by Mr. Gardiner, and, second, to show that the true purpose of these falsehoods and the people who are interested in propagandizing them."

Joslin said he was not informed as to when the committee to investigate Gardiner's claims would be appointed.

League Proposal on Way

Even as Mr. Hoover was answering this attack, his administration's affirmative reply to a League of Nations proposal for a one-year naval building truce participated in by 52 nations was enroute to Geneva.

Apparently unperturbed by the turn of events Gardiner showed no inclination to apologize. He was "surprised," he said, that Mr. Hoover would appoint a commission of his own rather than sponsor a congressional investigation.

"Of course I should welcome the congressional investigation that would bring out and publish all the pertinent facts," he added.

The severity and suddenness of the President's move recalled his almost similar action of two years ago. Then without warning, he struck at William B. Shearer, who claimed he had helped wreck the unsuccessful Geneva arms conference of 1927.

He called Shearer a "propagandist" who had "organized zealous support for increased armament" and criticized "all efforts of our government to secure international agreements for the reduction of naval arms." Shearer came before the senate committee.

The President let it be known some weeks ago he would go directly to the American people, if necessary, to combat efforts to arouse public opinion in favor of increased naval expenditure.

He was represented then as indignant at supposed efforts of navy department personnel to block budgetary decreases he was advocating. Since that time the navy has submitted new 1933 budget estimates slicing approximately $61,000,000 from its previous $401,000,000 figures.

LOSS $600,000 AS FIRE SWEEPS HOTEL

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE WATER GAP, Pa., Oct. 30—The Kittatinny hotel, one of the best known summer resorts in this section, was destroyed by fire early today. The loss was estimated at more than $600,000.

The hotel, a four-story frame structure, was closed for the season several weeks ago. It stood on a rock-cliff above the Lackawanna railroad.

YOUTH HELD IN RICHWOOD BANK ROBBERY IDENTIFIED

Wife Faints as "Dead" Husband Comes to Life

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 30—Eighty-year-old Llewellyn Hall walked in on his own mourning party early today.

The aged man slumped over while sitting in a rocking chair at his home. His wife, Emma, could find no pulse. Neither could the police rescue squad she summoned and they departed with Hall for the morgue.

Enroute they stopped at a hospital for an official death pronouncement. Physicians could find no heartbeats, but decided to try a stimulant anyway.

Hall's eyelids flickered. The astonished physicians applied artificial respiration. Presently Hall sat up.

"I guess I must have been out for a while," he explained.

Police took him home again and found mourners already gathered. Hall finished up by helping revive his wife, who fainted at the sight of him.

MARION MEN BEFORE BOARD

Donithen, Brown Place City's Bid for New Federal Hospital.

40 OTHERS SEEK LOCATION

Cincinnati Congressman Suggests New Project as Memorial to Longworth.

Hoke Donithen and W. D. Brown both members of a delegation from the Marion chamber of commerce, appeared before the federal hospitalization board in Washington, D. C., today in an effort to have a proposed new veterans' hospital located near Marion or in the Eighteenth congressional district.

Hears Other Claims

The board also heard claims from a number of other cities including Xenia, Bellefontaine, Magnetic Springs, Kenton, Port Clinton, Elmore, Oak Harbor and Cincinnati. Delegations from more than 40 Ohio cities were scheduled to appear before the board.

This morning Representative Hess of Cincinnati urged that that city be selected as a site for the hospital and that it be called the "Nicholas Longworth Veterans' Memorial," in memory of the late speaker of the house.

Hess said Longworth, who lived in Cincinnati, had strongly advocated the establishment of a veterans hospital in his city.

The action also was urged by Representative Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, who told the board that Longworth before his death, had asked her to aid him in obtaining the hospital for Cincinnati.

Donithen Speaks

The spokesmen of the Marion delegation followed representatives of Xenia before the board, according to International News Service dispatches from Washington this afternoon.

The Xenia spokesman gave as one of the reasons why that city should be selected was the fact that it had no bootleggers. Donithen, who followed him, said that while "Marion was not so rural as to have no bootleggers it nevertheless had many advantages as a site for the hospital. Brown pointed out that "Marion had all the conditions that would make an ideal location for the hospital.

MRS. EDISON IS LEFT WITH VAST WEALTH

Received No Legacy, but "Gifts" from Husband Total Millions.

Copyright 1931 by International News Service.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 30—Mrs. Mina M. Edison, widow of Thomas A. Edison, emerged 24 hours after the probate of his will in the surrogate court in Newark yesterday as one of the richest women in New Jersey if not in the United States, though under his will she received no legacy.

Her wealth is variously estimated here as reaching between $5 and $6 million dollars.

The chief source from "gifts" bestowed upon her by her husband from his twenty shares for royalties and for the possessions of the various companies all enough, their 45 years of married life. These taxable shares are valued at $5,000,000, giving Edison an annual income over this period of $1,000,000 or a total of $45,000,000.

This income was strictly cash and was only a part of the moneys that flowed into the inventor in the form of dividends from his various holdings, from his enormous monopoly of the phonograph and moving picture fee and in the last 10 years patents which he held jointly in the companies.

MRS. JUDD ABANDONS EXTRADITION FIGHT

Trunk Slayer Leaves California To Stand Trial in Arizona.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30 — In custody of officers, Winnie Ruth Judd was traveling by automobile today across the desert toward Phoenix, Ariz., to face trial for the murder of Miss Hedvig Samuelson and Miss Agnes Le Roi there October 16.

Mrs. Judd left the Los Angeles county jail at 9:45 last night in custody of Sheriff J. R. McFadden, of Maricopa county, Arizona; County Attorney Lloyd Andrews and Mrs. Lon Jordan, jail matron of Phoenix.

On advice of her attorney, Paul Schenck, Mrs. Judd abandoned her fight against extradition.

Following the automobile in which Mrs. Judd left the county jail were two other cars, one containing Los Angeles county officers, and the other containing Dr. William C. Judd of Santa Monica, Calif., husband of the confessed slayer, and newspapermen.

WHITE AND MINE OPERATORS MEET

Governor Well Pleased with Results of Conference with Union Heads.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 30 — Assured of the cooperation of union chiefs, Governor George White today sought the aid of the operators of Ohio's coal mines in his effort to end the longest mine strike in the industry and thereby bring about its settlement.

The operators were asked to meet with the governor this morning to discuss the results of yesterday's conference with representatives of the United Mine Workers of America, during which the union officials agreed to the terms of the operators' proposal for settlement of the strike.

SCENE OF MINE RESCUE

Above is pictured the exterior of the mine of the West End Coal Co. at Mocanaqua, Pa., where two men were rescued this morning after having been buried alive since last Saturday. Their four companions were found dead. The arrow indicates where the men were imprisoned as the result of a gas explosion.

RESCUERS SAVE TWO MEN BURIED 5 DAYS

Four Others Found Dead After Explosion in Pennsylvania Mine.

By The Associated Press

MOCANAQUA, Pa., Oct. 30—Rescue workers shortly after 6 a. m. today brought out, alive, two of the six miners entombed last Saturday by an explosion at the local mine of the West End Coal company. The others were dead.

Those rescued are John Tomashunis, 40, father of seven children, and Joseph Matsoni, 22. Mine officials said both were in excellent condition considering they had been buried alive for five and a half days. Both will survive the ordeal, physicians said.

The dead: John Molitoris, 38, father of three children; Jacob Tinus, 45, father of four; Henry Ceglarski, 23, single, and Paul Novak, 40, whose wife is in Europe.

A crowd of about 200 were waiting at the mouth of the mine as Thomashunis and Matsoni were brought to an ambulance. In the crowd was Mrs. Thomashunis. She was taken to the mine office where officials assured her that her husband was in good condition.

"When I got the message that he was all right I felt just as if he had come from the dead," she said.

From rescue workers it was learned that two of the dead men had been killed instantly by the force of the explosion and that the other two had been victims of after-damp.

Blast Rends Shaft

Novak, a brakeman, had gone out of the entry to get a car just as the explosion ripped through that part of the shaft. He and Tinus, a laborer who was working nearby, were instantly killed. Molitoris and Ceglarski were uninjured by the blast, but they ventured out too soon afterward and fell victims to after-damp.

Thomashunis and Matsoni had been entombed about 133 hours.

FESS CONTINUES AS PARTY HEAD

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—Agreeing to continue as head of the Republican national committee until after the nominating convention next June, Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio today went ahead with plans for a meeting of the committee here Dec. 15 to select a convention city and fix the apportionment for the convention.

Fess has been desirous of relinquishing the chairmanship, feeling that his senatorial activities might be hampered by the fact that they would be judged in the light of his position as Republican national chairman. President Hoover and party leaders, however, feel it would be unwise to put in a temporary chairman and be obliged to change again after the convention.

Chicago and Cleveland are leading contenders for the convention city.

BUS LINE TRANSFER IS APPROVED TODAY

Marion-Galion Route Certificate Released by Maag Bros.

Transfer of the Marion-Galion bus route from the Maag Bros Transit Co of Marion to the Galion-Mansfield Transit Co. with headquarters in Galion was authorized by the state utilities commission today, according to an International News Service dispatch from Columbus

With this transfer, ownership of all inter-city bus routes operating through this city passed out of local hands

The Galion Mansfield Transit Co., headed by Carl Edler of Galion, has been managing the Marion Galion route for two years under an arrangement made three years ago, but the local company has retained a certificate for its operation until this time.

Early this year, The Maag Bros Transit Co sold stock in its Marion-Toledo line to the Arcodet Lines, with headquarters in Columbus

TEACHERS GET FIRST SALARY SINCE APRIL

Chicago Finds Temporary Way Out of Finance Problem.

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Oct. 30—Chicago's 14,000 suffering schoolteachers today found the "silver lining through the dark clouds shining"

It was pay-day for the first time since April. Salary checks covering the month of September were mailed to the school teachers last night by the city treasurer, James A. Kearns, who raised the necessary $3,800,000 by drawing on the city's aggregate of available funds. The treasurer's action, an emergency step, was authorized at a special meeting of the city council.

The teachers' relief, however, appears to be short-lived. They have not yet been paid for the period between last April and Sept. 1 and next week their October salaries will fall due. Where the money will be taken to cover thi obligation of the city as well as the unpaid salaries of other municipal employes is the knotty problem challenging the brains of officialdom

Two for Judge

William R. Martin, incumbent, and Homer E Johnson are candidates for municipal judge on a non-partisan ticket

Marion city's 42 precincts and two county precincts from the county, Marion township north and Marion township south, will vote on Marion township trustees There are five candidates for trustees and three to be elected Appearing on a non-partisan ticket, their names will be James E Campbell, J. F Crissinger, William Gulliford, David Morral and Rudolph Risen B. F. Waples is an uncontested candidate for township clerk.

The county school board race is being watched with considerable interest outside the city. Four candidates are seeking the two seats on the county board to become vacant this year. Cyril T Guthery, serving an unexpired term through appointment, is asking to be returned to the board. E. A. Williams of Grand Prairie township is seeking the vacancy to be created by the expiration of the term of S W Almendinger Opposing these two men are A. W Jones and R T. Thew backed by the Marion County Taxpayers association.

In campaign literature distributed in behalf of these candidates, the association has advocated the elimination of the office of county superintendent, and favored direct contact between the local school superintendent and the state director of education, rather than through the county superintendent "We stand for an organization without control or domination by any one man," the association states on its literature

Wants Good Schools

Williams has taken a stand for good schools at the lowest possible cost. Although pledged to economy he states that "poor schools are not economical at any price"

Besides the one mill lexy in Marion city and the proposed bond issue for the state, the only special issues are three proposed school district levies to be voted on this fall. They are a three-mill levy for one year for Waldo township rural school district; a two-mill levy for two years for Claridon township rural school district; a two-mill levy for one year for LaRue village school district. Montgomery township rural school district will vote on the question of state aid for Meeker schools.

SOVIET AUTHORITIES DENY AIDING CHINA

Brand as False Report That Munitions Are Sent into Manchuria.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Oct. 30—The Soviet foreign office today maintained its insistence that it is not aiding the Chinese in Manchuria with guns, airplanes and instructors, flatly denying contrary reports laid before it by Kuki Hirota, Japanese ambassador

Reports of Russian aid were based, the ambassador explained upon statements of General Ma of the Chinese forces at Tsitsihar. General Ma was quoted as having said an agreement exists under which he receives military airplanes, anti-aircraft guns and aviators from the Soviet union and that there are Soviet instructors in his army

L. M Kakakhan, acting foreign commissar for foreign affairs, replied the Japanese statement was based on unfounded inventions and on rumors emanating from "irresponsible persons who apparently are interested in spreading provocative propaganda about the situation in Manchuria."

HOOVER WAR VIEWS DISCUSSED IN BOOK

Opposed Separate U. S. Army in France, New Publication Says.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—Colonel Frederick Palmer's book, "Newton D Baker—America at war," which is published today, portrays Herbert Hoover in 1917 as opposing a separate American army in France Mr Hoover's idea, according to Palmer, was to use American troops as "manpower" within the ranks of the allies.

Colonel Palmer writes that Mr. Hoover's army organization views were made in a letter written Feb 13, 1917 to Colonel E M House, President Wilson's confidential advisor. In the letter Mr. Hoover suggests that "if the government gave stimuli by provision of pensions, etc, a large body of men could be recruited and sent simply as man power in France"

"At the same time," Colonel Palmer continues, "Hoover thought we ought to have strong military forces at the end of the war to strengthen our hands at the peace negotiations, since our proposals might be in conflict with European proposals"

In outlining reasons why the plan was not accepted by the United States, the writer terms Mr. Hoover's idea as one "fatal to our efficiency and to the very cause of the allies"

General Pershing is shown by Col. Palmer to have overestimated by 60 divisions the number of American troops needed to win the war

Soviet Officials Inspect Erie Railroad Yards Here

A party of four Russians, representatives of the Soviet government, made an inspection of Erie railroad equipment here yesterday afternoon

The men, who are being conducted on an inspection tour of the country by E R Rudd, chief engineer of the Union Switch and Signal Co. of Swissvale, Pa., arrived here about 4 p m from Findlay, O. They were taken over the car retarder hump yard in the west-bound yards of the Erie, an installation of the Swissvale company. This is one of the few yards of its kind in the country.

While in Findlay, the group inspected the traffic control section of track of the New York Central railroad, which enables one man to control a stretch of 60 miles of track without any but mechanical aid in switching, siding and other parts of the work.

The party left Marion about 8 p m on the C & O Sportsman for Columbus from where they will go to Cincinnati They expect to return to Russia some time next week to report on American railroad devices and other parts of their tour.

OCCUPANTS HURT AS TWO CARS COLLIDE

Police Search for Driver of One Machine and Companion.

An automobile driven by P. J Cleveland of 626 Sugar street, and occupied by Mrs. Cleveland and Mr and Mrs Ray Caylor of 768 Davids street, was wrecked and the occupants bruised in a collision with another machine on Bellefontaine avenue late last night. Two men, occupants of the other machine and whom Cleveland told the police had been drinking, disappeared before the arrival of the police The identity of the two men is unknown. Police are attempting to trace the men through the license number of the car.

Cleveland told the police he was driving west on Bellefontaine avenue when the other ca. loomed up from the west along the curb on the north side of the street. Thinking the driver of the car was about to park, Cleveland said he turned to the left as he reached the car The driver suddenly swung his machine out, crashing into the side of the Cleveland car, police were told.

Immediately following the accident, one of the men, Cleveland said, leaped over a fence and disappeared across a field while the other remained a few minutes but left before the police arrived. Their car was taken to the garage of the McDaniel Motor Co on west Center street.

MARDI GRAS HELD ON CHICAGO AVENUE

Ghosts Hobnob With Comic Characters at Party.

Ghosts, hobgoblins and witches hobnobbed with such moderns as Krazy Kat, Jiggs, prizefighters and bandits under the street-lights of Chicago avenue, at the community Hallowe'en party held last night by residents of the street. The celebration took on the air of a Mardi Gras as about 300 residents of the community and their guests took part or stood on the sidelines to enjoy the parade and the old-fashioned square dancing in the street. Permission to close the street to traffic was granted by Mayor Don Jones.

Practically all residents of the community served as a committee to sponsor the celebration which was originally talked of as a children's party but which grew to the extent that many residents took an active part in the festivities Guests were present from Delaware, Waldo, Bucyrus and other cities

Although no definite action was taken last night it is expected the celebration will become an annual affair

HOW GRADUATES FARE
By International News Service

BOSTON — Dean Everett W. Lord of Boston University's college of business administration, states that reports from 460 graduates showed that 31.8 per cent of them received promotions and higher salaries during the period of economic depression. Another group of graduates, representing 47 per cent of the 460, report that they have experienced no change in position and salary. Thus, a total of 78.8 per cent of the 460 graduates report that the business depression has not caused them any suffering. The largest number of graduates whose incomes have not been reduced are teachers or college instructors. The next largest group is that of the accountants.

Russian Poet To Speak Here at Club Meet

ALFRED KREYMBORG, modern Russian poet, has accepted the invitation of the Literary Arts club to appear in Marion in November for a lecture.

To finance his appearance, the club is sponsoring a benefit bridge party Friday, Nov. 6, at the St. Paul's Episcopal parish house. Assisting the club in pledging for Kreymborg's appearance are the Marion Association of University Women and the Marion City Teachers' association.

Mrs. Charles M. Weil, social chairman of the club, is in charge of arrangements. Miss Ruth Louise Henderson is in charge of the ticket sale, and those desiring tables for the benefit party have been asked to call Miss Henderson. Miss Katherine Eymon is literary chairman of the club, under whose department Mr. Kreymborg will appear.

Much love,
LOLA."

Venice fingered this epistle with a curious sense of detachment. Lola and her buoyant spirits seemed very far away and unimportant, like confetti thrown on New Year's eve.

The other letter, Nolly's, Venice opened more eagerly. Nolly with the peculiar sensitiveness of opals more or less closeted would offer her sympathy, never try to distract, as Lola probably would, with her own vital interests.

"May 8th.

"Darling Venice,

"I miss you terrifically. No one to tell me all the gay doings of the people we know and so I have no bits of gossip to give you at all.

"Did you read The Water Gypsies this winter? If not don't miss it. It's inimitable. Somebody said, Dickens after he had met du Maurier.

"Mother has made me a printed silk. Apricot color with little conventional black flowers. I really look quite Venice-ish in it and now that skirts are getting longer Pongo doesn't show so much. You're probably surprised at my sudden interest in clothes. It's Ernest Price, of course. Oh, Venice, I don't know whether it's pity or medical interest or what, but he comes to see me about twice a week. We have lovely talks and I can show him the insides of me. I hope some day he'll forget Pongo and regard me as a girl. You know what I mean, a girl like any other girl.

"He's trying to persuade mother and father to let some famous man he knows operate on me. He says if it does me no good it'll do me no harm and it's worth the trial. Mother and father are rather in favor of it but I'm not. I'm afraid. I don't mind Pongo really, and suppose I should die! I'll let you know if they decide to do it.

"Do tell me where you go and what you see. And don't forget to report the scalps you capture! Write me soon.

"From your loving,

"NOLLY."

Venice felt warmed, and happier than she had since the night of her mother's death. Dear Nolly. Her letter took Venice out of the dull rut in which her mind was going back and forth and lifted her to the human contacts from which she had recently seemed quite apart. Ernest Price. He sounded like a grave young man. Could he overlook Nolly's infirmity? If he only would. And here was Nolly loving him and suffering a hurt and uncertainty that most girls could never experience. An operation! It would be wonderful if it were a success. But death. Venice from out her depressed state was caught with a tremendous fear for Nolly.

She was careful not to communicate this dread in the long letter which she immediately sat down to write. It was an enthusiastic epistle of encouragement and assurances as to an operation. Then she went on to all her own details of the last week. Her tears fell as she wrote. There was nothing harsh and bitter about her crying now. Just the gentle easing of grief in retrospect. Afterward dropping the letter in a box across the street she felt a new lifting of her unhappiness. It was like a wound that has been opened and drained of its poison. Still sore but quite free of its inflammation and throb.

She took a lengthy walk along the Seine and her senses, for the first time since her mother's death, absorbed impressions; the caressing, kind spring air; the sharp squawk of a French horn; small boats plying through the gray Seine; women washing clothes close to the water's edge, red flannel, blue denim, muddy white cotton; the patient fishers on the left bank.

She loved Paris and hated the thought of going home. Crossing the place de la Concorde she felt a genuine thrill at its great sweep as though it was actually something of her own. That was it. Paris belonged to whomever walked her streets.

Tomorrow she must go to the Cunard office, and engage her passage home. Mrs. Muir's letter written to cousin Alicia Poe at Antibes had been returned that morning with no such address scribbled across its envelope in French. Venice had no friends or ties of any sort here. There was no reason for lingering on. Dr. Hawks had dropped from her ken as do many people who are kindness itself in the face of trouble but become invisible when the trouble passes.

Sitting in her bedroom that evening Venice's mind went towards the future with the first clarity it had registered in the past week. Back to New York again with that ever-present struggle to make herself attractive in the social whirlpool. It was what her mother would have wanted. Going to parties again, awkward and shy. Roland Wainwright, that dazzling young man, ignoring her with casual indifference, like the shrug of a shoulder. And Drake Farrally who was a real person, kind because he sympathized with her. It was a dreadful, draining prospect. Life loomed before her an endless effort of striving to please.

She eyed the extravagant roses on the wall-paper with dreary pessimism. Suddenly a picture of Ann Daryea blurred the overgrown flowers with their unnatural purplish hue. She sat with her slim legs crossed high, dark, epithetic, not really clever or amusing. Miss crowding about her were insistent in their efforts to gain her attention. They liked her because they were just quite sure what had gone on in her past. Fun before finishing, Venice, with unkindly exactitude. If only every one didn't know. It always lived discreetly with its memories, that any one who

Dress Correctly for Early Fall Health, Beauty Walks

BY JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

After lazing on beaches or at resorts this past Summer we're apt to find our bodies much in need of exercise, and since walking is such a splendid way of bringing renewed beauty and health let's get out in the fresh Fall air for a stroll.

First of all we should be dressed for the occasion. Heels of the military type, and the skirt sufficiently wide to permit our legs to move freely. The coat should be buttoned or belted so as not to require holding together, as our hands and arms must be free to swing at our sides as we step along.

We want the sun and fresh air to bathe our skins, so we needn't even bother about make-up. Perhaps just a dab of powder to remove the shine, but never mind about cheek and lip rouge and eye make-up. We're out for a beauty and health walk and we'll soon have color in our cheeks and lips and a sparkle in our eyes, so let's be on our way.

We'll choose a walk along deserted streets where there are no shop windows to gaze into, so we won't even need a purse.

First of all let's take a deep breath.? Isn't that exhilarating? Then swinging our arms we march along without even a word to our companion. Deep breathing and our famous rhythmic step occupying our minds.

Health and Grace

Since this walk is for beauty and health, we're going to practice graceful carriage too. Holding the head high with the chin lifted slightly upward, pick an imaginary line, and, shortening our steps, let the body glide along. Walk in this fashion for one or two blocks, then lengthen the steps, let the arms swing more freely and go along this way for one or two blocks. Never, however, must we permit our stride to become unfeminine by taking too long steps or swinging the arms too freely.

Alternate walking one block for health and one block for beauty, which means swing along hastily for a block then shorten the steps and practice grace for one block. You'll soon see the difference between a graceful carriage and a hurried walk and it is the former we must practice most if we wish to improve our carriage and so appear gracefully feminine.

Half an hour walking each day will do wonders toward normalizing the figure, to say nothing of the beauty benefits derived from such outdoor activity.

A cool shower taken after the daily walk will serve as a finishing touch and prove most refreshing.

discouraged when he talks to me. I'm so flat with my dull repartee and self-consciousness and conventional background.

Suddenly she clasped her hands with eager intensity. Her face went slight. Why shouldn't I stay over here six months and return with a manufactured past? I could hint at this and that. My reserved conversation would only appear a signpost to hidden depths. I might actually try to do things here that I'd never done before. I will. I will. I'll show Roland Wainwright. I'll make him long to discover what he overlooked. I'll make Drake Farrally think me the most desirable girl he's ever met, not just a bundle of black velvet sitting neglected on some couch. I'll show everybody, the girls that thought I was a fool, the man that never noticed me one way or another, the man that tried to be polite and thought they deserved a medal for their pains.

She went to bed tremendously excited.

Dear God, she prayed, help me to go home a mysterious and interesting woman. Please, dear God.

She lay awake half the night planning how to work out this tremendous problem. Dawn brought no solution but she dropped asleep happy and contemptuous with the resolution that there would return to New York a new and alluring Venice Muir.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Worries To Relieve Lillian as "Errand Girl."

I WAS so spent with fatigue that I made no objections to Dicky's insistence that I go directly to sleep while he did sentry-go. I was almost too sleepy to thank him and I must have been fast asleep before he left the room, for I remember nothing of his going.

It was well in the afternoon when I awoke and, when I realized how long I had slept, I sprang up with a sense of guilt. For I remembered the dark circles under Lillian's eyes and the deeply etched lines of fatigue in her face, which I had noted after I had parted from her after our midnight coffee. I had told her that when I awakened I would take her place as "errand girl" for the improvised hospital room where the wounded Chinese lay under Katharine's care. She had refused to let me take her place until I "had had my sleep out." But I was deeply chagrined that it had taken me so long to accomplish that physical feat.

Hastening To Relieve Lillian

I dashed through my shower and dressing in record-breaking time and hurried down to the living room where I knew Lillian was generally to be found at her self-imposed tasks.

She was not there when I entered the room, but it was only a few seconds later when she came in, and though she was making a palpable effort to be cheerily nonchalant, every line of her face and body spelled fatigue. But her greeting was characteristic in its solicitude for me.

"What are you doing down this early," she demanded. "I thought I told you to get your sleep out."

"Did you think it was necessary to 'sleep round the clock' in order to accomplish that little feat," I retorted. "I did not open by eyes from the time I climbed into my bed ,until I awakened a few minutes ago. I have had all the sleep I can use for the next forty-eight hours, and I'm now ready to see that you get a dose of your own medicine, so come along up to your room with me while I put you to bed."

She flashed her gamin-like grin up at me.

"Just a sec," she said. "Have you had any breakfast?"

"To quote your young daughter," I retorted smiling. "What has that to do with the price of fried onions?"

"Everything," she answered. "Incidentally, I happen to know my onions, fried and creamed, as far as this stunt is concerned. You're not ready to do efficient service on this party till you've been properly fed."

Lillian Has Another Idea

"Very well." I have as close an imitation as I could of her manner when she sent me to bed. "I will make a bargain with you. I will go and get some breakfast, if you will promise on your honor that you will go straight to bed and to sleep when I come back."

"With one amendment, you have the pledge," she said. "We can't leave them in there,"—she gestured toward the library where the wounded Chinese lay,—without an errand girl' on the job. I'll stay here while you get something to eat. Then when you come back, I'll slip off the knapsack and attach it to your shoulders. Is it a go?"

"What else can it be when you're at the helm?" I answered, with a smile that held a soupcon of irritation because Lillian so rarely permits anyone to make any sort of a decision for her or upon any undertaking in which she is engaged.

"I know," she said with a rueful grin. "I fawncy I do rather like to be the 'bride at the wedding and the corpse at the funeral, but I just can't help it."

At something in her face, I took her by the shoulders, shook her lightly and then kissed her warmly.

"Who wants you to help it?" I queried. "Not I. Be little Casablanca on the burning deck and see if I care."

I went to the kitchen, where I found Katie ironing linen, for she never will entrust my best linen cloths and serviettes to anyone else but herself, no matter how busy she is.

"Don't stop, Katie," I said. "I'll get something for myself."

She quickly rolled up the linen lunch cloth she had unfolded and thrust it back into the basket at her side. Then she pulled the plug from her iron and faced me with arms akimbo, a ludicrous familiar gesture.

"Vot matter mit you?" she demanded. "You seek of your poor Katie's cooking? Enf duts vot de matter mit you, me, I tink, I better find some place vere my mistress like my cooking."

Her manner while not exactly truculent was distinctly resentful and her eyes were clouded. I saw that I had wounded my temperamental little maid and that I must make quick amends.

Rheumatism Goes Swollen Joints Vanish

How To Stop Rheumatic Misery in Less Than a Week or Money Back

If you suffer from torturing rheumatic pains, sore muscles or stiff inflamed joints, it's because your system is full of the dangerous rheumatic poisons that every year makes thousands helpless. What you need is RU-MA, and need it right now.

RU-MA acts on the blood, kidneys and liver, and helps drive the dangerous rheumatic poisons from the system through the natural channels of elimination—it eases pain the first day or nothing to pay.

An internal medicine should be used to free the joints and muscles of crippling rheumatic stiffness, soreness and torturing pain. That's why RU-MA succeeds while external remedies and pain deadening drugs give only temporary relief.

Henney & Cooper says no matter what kind of rheumatism you have, or how long you have suffered, try RU-MA—it must stop your rheumatic agony or you get your money back.—Adv.

PRAYER MEEING HAS HELPFUL END

By United Press

CHICAGO—Practical application of a Wednesday night prayer meeting text, 'sowing good seed," was made by members of the New England Congregational church

During the prayer meeting a parishioner announced an opportunity for doing good

"As I came down Lake Shore drive," he said, "I saw a man and a woman on the parkway adjoining the beach He was rubbing her feet, apparently trying to warm them and then wrapped his coat around them

"As I watched he spread out newspapers in the bushes It looked as if they were preparing to spend the night there.'

A collection was taken, and after some search, the couple was found huddled in the bushes Both were about 25 They were coatless and hatless The woman was without shoes, only tattered stockings covering her feet. Her husband had wrapped her feet in newspapers and a thin shawl and had placed his coat over her He was in his shirt sleeves The night was cold

The church members gave them funds to obtain lodging and food A physician announced he would give them medical attention free of charge The young woman he said was on the verge of pneumonia

SEA "GRASS" STOPS SHIPS

By International News Service

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—Tropical filograna, called 'grass' by mariners is causing shipping, naval and fishing boat officials considerable worry as a result of extraordinary high ocean temperatures along the Southern California coast, it was revealed here when experts were called in on conferences The filograna attaches itself in mat like form to ship hulls in an alarmingly rapid fashion and impedes progress of even the largest and most powerful ships. An oil tanker 50 days from dry-docking was forced back for a hull scraping when filograna six and a half inches thick formed the length of the ship's bottom. The growth is a tiny worm which propagates both by egg and by division, and lives in tiny quill like shells of living tissue nbers from Many Sections of State in City for Goat Dinner and Meeting Sponsored by Marion and Lima Groups.

Odd Fellows Here onor Officer, Band

members of Odd from practically the state gathered ight to follow the Lima and Fort ments of Lima mpment No 50 of honor to Ralph of Marion, grand grand encamp- d the I O O F ko Lodge No. 55

A parade through the business district at 8 p. m started the evening's program, which included a roast goat dinner addresses by Major L. Don Jones of Marion, Williamson, the honor guest, prominent lodge members and officials, and musical selections by the band

200 in Parade

Nearly 200 took part in the parade which formed at the lodge hall, headed south on Main street and made a circuit of the uptown district. Heading the line were Fred Newcomer of Lima, drum major, Police Chief William E. Marks and Patrolmen Bert Powell, John Wren, Harry Smith and Sergeant L. E. Reardon.

The Kosciusko lodge band of approximately 25 pieces followed next, with more than 40 members of the uniform rank order in full dress uniform next in line.

Mayor Jones lauded the spirit of fellowship and fraternalism displayed during the program, remarking that the Odd Fellow order was the only fraternity to which his father had belonged. Jones declared it was an honor for the city to have the guests here in honor of Grand Patriarch Williamson.

C. E. Strawbridge of Lima, representative of the grand encampment of Ohio was the next speaker to be introduced by the toast master T. E. Bolander. Strawbridge extended the welcome of the lodges sponsoring the affair to all guests. He stated that the Lima and Marion encampments were giving the dinner for the band and grand patriarch in return and appreciation for services rendered the Lima groups last year at meetings in Lima.

Drum Major Responds

George M. Laughman, representative to the grand lodge and drum major of the Kosciusko lodge band made the response for the band after a few words by the toast master and a selection by the band.

Williamson was introduced with his wife, Mrs. Mary Williamson. He expressed the hope that the members would "go on" with the lodge work, not only in the order but all through life, giving help to those in distress.

"If there ever was a time in the history of our country when it needed men it is now. It needs us to go on, improving citizenship and loyalty," Williamson said.

Toastmaster Bolander paid tribute to the standing of Williamson in the hearts of his fellow lodgemen. He then introduced A. G. Fuller of Findlay past grand patriarch of the Ohio encampments. Fuller also paid tribute to Williamson and Bolander and congratulated Marion on having two such capable leaders. Fuller said the work of the lodge was not only to get new members but to build up citizenship and make the towns and homes better places in which to live.

Five representatives of Kendall Lodge No. 6 junior order, from Lima were next introduced. A short talk was made by Prentiss Lawrence of Lima "Daddy" of the lodge, explaining some of the work of the junior lodge.

Columbus Man Here

Among the other speakers called upon for short talks were George M. Neffner of Columbus, representative of the sovereign lodge who also gave the invocation before the dinner. B. E. Rhoads of Cincinnati, grand high priest of the grand encampment. Earl Brewer of Harpster, representative of the grand lodge. Charles T. Cross of Columbus, grand secretary of the grand lodge of Ohio. H. F. Goff of Bellefontaine grand outside sentinel. O. O. Weaver of Lima, A. E. Keith of Denver, Colo., and Edward W. Martin of Massillon.

Committees from Sosnowski and Wayside Rose lodges were in charge of preparing the dinner, all but the goats, which were made ready in Lima by C. E. Strawbridge. Mrs. R. G. Smallwood was chairman fo the Sosnowski committee and Mrs. George Hagemann headed the Wayside Rose committee.

Members of the Lima committee working on the meeting were C. E. Strawbridge chairman, P. A. Reynolds, C. L. Frey, Clifford Smith, J. J. Hall, Albert Dotson and George Davidson. The Marion committee was headed by T. E. Bolander, chairman and consisted of H. F. Baller, J. A. Hiller and George R. Henney.

A press that can exert a pressure of 3,500,000 pounds has been built to stamp motor truck frames from steel.

TWO BEAUTIES IN ONE FAMILY

Although Marlene Dietrich, famous German and American film star, has undisputed claims to beauty, she hasn't any exclusive right to it in her own family. Out of hundreds of portraits that have been made of her, the vampish actress likes this one, in which she shares honors with her daughter, Maria Seiber, as the best. It is the latest one taken, too, and doesn't leave much for which to ask.

REFORMED CHURCH GROUP HAS PARTY

The Halloween masquerade party of the Young People's society of First Reformed church held last night in the church basement, drew a large attendance. The basement was decorated for the occasion. The guests were ushered through winding passages, haunted with ghosts and into the large room where the party was held. After guessing the names of the guests masks were removed and a social time was enjoyed. Nelson Klingel was in charge of the games and contests. Doughnuts, cider and pumpkin pie were served. Miss Mary Howison is president of the society. Awards were presented for the best dressed and most comic costumes.

The Stars Say—

Saturday, Oct. 31

AN interesting and eventful day especially for those in employment or for others affiliated with mergers, combines or secret societies, is presaged by the ruling planetary operations. It is a time for seeking favors, honors or promotion from those in places of authority and for pushing clever plans or projects having the element of novelty or innovation. But handle all writings and documents with precaution and do not provoke legal processes. Be alert but cautious.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of advancement, promotion, honors or recognition from employers or those in place of power or from the heads of mergers, close corporations or secret societies. New plans or projects out of the ordinary or offering important innovation, should flourish, but be careful in signing all documents lest litigation ensue. A child born on this day may be talented in peculiar or original ways and should rise to high place in employment or in secret organizations or in combines, mergers or diplomacy.

MUSSOLINI BACKS COFFEE INDUSTRY

Takes Steps To Have Italy's Supply Come from Own Colony.

By United Press

ROME—Italy's coffee pots, which have been boiling with imported coffee for centuries, soon will be filled with homegrown coffee beans at the express wish of Premier Benito Mussolini

Mussolini has commanded that Italy, one of the largest consumers of coffee in the world for its population, drastically reduce the number of ships bearing coffee beans from Brazil Venezuela, Colombia San Domingo and Cuba.

To accomplish this the Fascist government has taken steps to make coffee growing profitable along the high plain coast of Eritrea its tiny African colony just north of Abyssinia, on the Red Sea.

At a recent cabinet meeting it was decided to place 66 000 hectares of coffee land at the disposal of Italian settlers who will promise to grow coffee under government supervision Each settler will be allowed a maximum of 50 hectares The government will provide the necessary coffee plants suited to that country and will furnish the colonists with technical instruction

Experiments for the production of coffee in Eritrea have been made since 1902 and although the scheme was shown to be feasible it needed the force and determination of the Fascist government to push it through to final success

It's great to FEEL FIT!

TODAY'S the day of outdoor Me! Men and women retain their youth — their joy in a healthful, vigorous body.

A daily enemy of health is constipation. Intestinal sluggishness often leads to headaches, backaches, lack of pep, premature aging, loss of good looks.

It is unwise to fight constipation with habit-forming pills and drugs. They often do more harm than good.

The wise and healthful way is to correct the diet. Your system needs "bulk" and Vitamin B in generous quantities to keep it healthfully regular.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a delicious ready-to-eat cereal, gives you both of these things. It furnishes "bulk," which gently exercises the intestines. And Vitamin B, which tones them up.

In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains iron, which helps build rich, red blood!

Start now to eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly — either as a cereal or in cooked foods. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient to prevent and to relieve most cases of constipation. (See your doctor, however, if you suffer from intestinal trouble not relieved this way.)

Be sure you get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Selects Casts for Four Plays by Junior Class

Casts of the four one-act plays to be presented by the junior class of Harding High school on Tuesday, Nov. 24 at the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school, have been selected.

Miss Lucile Foreman, coach of dramatics, conducted try-outs last week and announced the 27 characters for the parts, the stage manager, business manager, prompters, make-up and costume students yesterday.

Four plays were selected this year to give more students an opportunity to act. In past years, three one-act plays have been presented.

The cast of "A Message from Khufu," is made up of Donald Uhl, Robert Mautz, Junior Strayer and Bernard Brooks, with Helen Cathers as prompter. Jane Raub, Mary Louise Winters, Wanda Freshwater, Erma Prettyman, Marilyn Mosekae and Betty Annon have been selected to play in "The Cross Stitch Heart." Margaret Herriot will be prompter.

In the play, "Rabbit's Boys" will be Chester Evans, Imogene Metz, Robert Rosenberg, Maxine Alspach, Marcella Smith and Marjorie May with Mary Gracely as prompter.

"The Sentimental Scarecrow," the fourth and last play selected by Miss Foreman will be presented with Robert Campbell, Mary Lewis, Virginia Neal, Virginia Vance, Trella Hemmerly, Max Bader, John Guthrie, Nancy Carskadden, Charlotte Llewellyn, Annabelle Cook and Lillian Hankel in the cast and Muriel McMurray as prompter.

Francis Roush has been chosen stage manager, with Byron Caldwell as assistant stage manager. Elwyn Williams will be business manager, assisted by Thomas Coon. Properties for the plays will be in charge of Martha Waddell and Alice Crow.

This year, for the first time, students will assist with the make-up and costuming. Jeanette Alexander and Katharine Marshall have been named assistants.

Chic Star Patterns

—: Practical and Simple :—

Cut in Sizes 36 to 50.

PATTERN 2193

An attractive morning dress smartly made of polka and printed cottons. It opens out flat and is particularly good model to adjust to figures with large bust or large hips. The original was fashioned of percale printed in three shades of blue on a white ground. The trimming was dark blue percale. It was stunning. Equally serviceable fabrics are gingham, cotton broadcloth, madras and rayon.

Pattern 2193 may be ordered only in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 36 inch fabric, 1 yard contrasting. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

THE NEW FALL CATALOG is now ready. It features the newest in afternoon, sports and house dresses, lingerie, pajamas and kiddies' clothes. Also delightful gift suggestions in accessory and transfer patterns. Price of catalog, fifteen cents. Catalog with pattern, twenty five cents. Cake Treats For Hallowe'en

THERE'S something so "catching" about the Hallowe'en spirit that most women, whether they're giving a party or not, enjoy preparing something extra-special that night!

But, of course, Hallowe'en's one holiday when the usual "dainty" dishes just won't do! That snappy, October tang in the air does rouse the appetite. And all the high-spirited fun of a Hallowe'en get-together is apt to make people mighty hungry, too!

You'll want to serve your most successful, all-in-one-hot dish, thick, crusty sandwiches spread with tasty fillings, lots of spicy pickles—a choice of steaming hot coffee or creamy chocolate, and for dessert—generous wedges of light-as-down, homemade cake served with mugs of sparkling country cider! And be sure to have plenty so that you can urge second (and even third!) helpings of everything.

Now let's concentrate on the cake since, really, the dessert always seems the most important part of any festive meal. And there isn't anything that's so universally appreciated as cake at its most delicious best!

We're listed two specially delightful recipes below and we've tested them. They're easy-to-make—and sure-to-succeed! So go right ahead—take out your mixing bowl—and mix them up—without a moment's fear or hesitation. Even if you're sort of new at this baking business and a little timid about trying your hand at it—you'll have grand "luck" with these two cakes.

One reason we can promise you such success is this. These recipes use the Double-Acting Baking Powder. They're particularly designed for it. Notice the economical proportion—we use only one teaspoon to one cup of sifted flour. And that means a sure triumph! When you take your cakes out of the oven—they'll be gorgeously high and light—and beautifully fragrant. You'll find that the Double-Acting Baking Powder gives all your cakes that marvelous "melt-on-the-tongue" texture that every ambitious cook dreams of.

And now, here's a menu to start Hallowe'en appetites a'cheering! And here are the recipes for two thrilling cakes.

Oyster Patties
Tomato-jelly-and-chopped-celery salad
Hallowe'en Sandwiches Pickles
Plantation Marble Cake
Coffee Cider

Plantation Marble Cake

(2 eggs)

2 cups sifted cake flour; 2 teaspoons baking powder; ½ teaspoon salt; ½ cup butter or other shortening; 1 cup sugar; 2 eggs, well beaten, ¾ cup milk; 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon each cloves and nutmeg; 2 tablespoons molasses.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs; then flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Divide batter in two parts. To one part, add spices and molasses. Place light and dark mixtures alternately, a tablespoon at a time, in greased pan, 8x8x2 inches. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 50 minutes, or until done. Cool. Cover with butter frosting and decorate with nuts and raisins.

Hallowe'en Fudge Cake

(1 egg)

2 cups sifted cake flour; 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt; ½ cup butter or other shortening; 1 cup sugar, 2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, melted; 1 egg, well beaten; 1 teaspoon vanilla; ¾ cup milk.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add chocolate and blend; then add egg and vanilla. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Bake in greased round loaf pan, in moderate oven (325° F.) 1 hour. Cover top and sides of cake with orange frosting.

mirrors does the ssing-table or oudoir call for? I called for a s was to accom- heon and I was und she had but the mirror which essing-table, and ll hand mirror in her dressing ply make-up and touches to her rstood why her rly at the nape of her neck and why she gave the appearance of having dressed too hurriedly

Not once did she employ the hand mirror for arranging her hair at the back or sides and not once did she—nor could she—see her head and face at the same time. I realized then that mirrors play an important and interesting part in one's appearance that is, if we wish to present a perfectly groomed person to the critical eyes of the world. The well-equipped dressing room calls for several mirrors. A hand mirror for peering at the back of the head and the profile is quite as necessary (since we permit others to view us from the back and sides) as the mirror over the dressing-table.

Viewed from Blend to Toe

The magnifying mirror is indeed important since it reflects and exaggerates every imperfection in make-up and skin condition, and, once accustomed to the regular use of such a mirror, it becomes a most important implement in the daily beauty regimen.

The "all-length mirro is quite necessary because it permits us to see whether the details of the make-up, costume and accessories blend into a perfect ensemble.

Seams in hose must be straight heels must not be run down and, the hemline and fullness of skirt should be arranged to make one appear taller or shorter, as one's needs might be, while the hat, purse and other accessories should blend in color and proportion to the basic garment which is the dress or coat.

Unless we can view ourselves from head to toe in one mirror it is almost impossible to judge whether the little black Empire hat should be worn with the frock which has been selected for the day

The small purse mirror is important but only in an emergency, to be used when more practical mirrors are out of reach since the average purse mirror is too small to permit the reflection of more than one feature at a time.

DURBIN SPEAKS AT PARTY MEET

Kenton Democratic Leader Blames Republicans for Nation's Ills.

At the doorstep of the Republican party was laid the ills of the nation by William W. Durbin of Kenton, guest speaker at a rally held by the women of the Marion County Democratic Women's club in the Democratic headquarters last night. In no instance, Mr. Durbin told his audience, have the Republicans lived up to their campaign promises and because of the erection of a high tariff wall and protection given the monied interests of the nation, have plunged the country into the worst panics in its history.

Mrs. Hoagland Presides

The meeting was attended by between 40 and 50, including members of the club and of the local Democratic party. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. J. B. Hoagland, president of the organization and refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program.

Mayor L. Don Jones, who was the first speaker, outlined what had been accomplished by the administration during the last two years, and warned his listeners not to be too seriously impressed by any criticism they might hear. He told the members of the club, the only public official who does not meet with criticism, is the official who does nothing. "I would rather be defeated than to have it said I had done nothing," the mayor declared.

Mrs. Morgan Speaks

Mrs. E. H. Morgan of Marion, district chairman of the state organization of Democratic Women's clubs, who was the next speaker, made a plea for more consideration of the woman on the part of the male members of the party. Much of the dissatisfaction she said she found among Democratic women in her travels over the district, was not with the party, but with the lack of consideration being shown them by the men of the party. She also made a plea for support of the local ticket.

The only hope of the nation, the audience was told by Mr. Durbin, is a change of the administration. "A new leadership is needed," he declared, "to bring a return of prosperity." He urged the election of the local Democratic ticket, saying it was the only means of building up a strong organization in the county.

The candidates were introduced by Mrs. Hoagland following the talk by Mr. Durbin.

dance with boots on, and embrace their brothers, the Japanese.

It seems improbable that Russia would risk fatal interference with her five-year plan for the pleasure of fighting Japan. But if war does come, Japan will find a Russia unlike that pushed over so easily in the days of the feeble Czar and corrupt grand dukes.

GOLD CONTINUES traveling from the United States to France. Four million dollars worth went on the ship Albert Ballin bound for Paris yesterday.

The French request and get gold in United States gold coin. Frenchmen like to collect these, that they may have real money. France has two and a half billions in gold, more in proportion to wealth and population than any other nation in the world, but does not coin or distribute any of it. She never before had so much and keeps it in solid lumps.

It may comfort you, watching gold going from here to Paris, to learn that it is coming to us from weaker countries, South America, China and even India, where Britain made a foolish, ineffectual effort to enforce the gold standard.

India has on the way here $3,250,000 in gold, the first of five shipments. India inevitably will go back to silver.

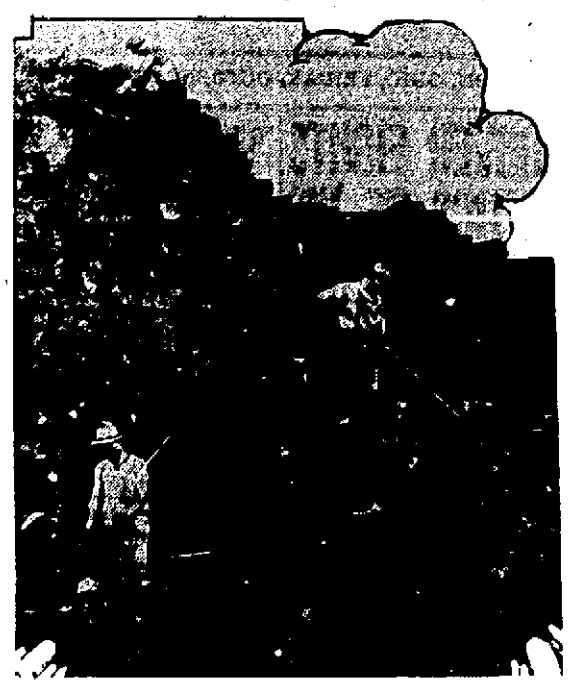
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., puts the unemployed at city work, paid at 40 cents an hour. Their pay isn't "real money," but "scrip," a paper money that workers can use to purchase goods at the city's stores. Food, clothing, other necessaries are cheap at city stores. Merchants don't suffer, because those that spend the scrip would not have any other money to spend. Grand Rapids merchants approve the plan.

Controlled by the driver, electric brakes have been invented for motor truck trailers.

WIVES CREATE NEW INDUSTRY



So popular has "tin can" housekeeping become that this new industry has been created in Los Angeles, where thousands of empty cans are thrown away every month by wives who can't be bothered with preparing "old-fashioned" meals. The problem of what to do with the mountain of cans in the city dump has been solved with huge magnets which extract the metal containers from the other debris. The tin is then fed to presses and compressed into bales above. These will soon make more tin cans for more tinned food for more "tin" housewives.

STATE IN DISPUTE OVER SPECIAL TAX

Gasoline and Cigaret Levies Cause Controversy in Tennessee.

By United Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Methods of collecting two state taxes—that levied against gasoline and cigarets—have become an issue in Tennessee, and settlement of the dispute may set a precedent for other states.

Objections to paying a six cent gasoline tax were raised first by airlines, who said in their complaint their planes were not users of the highways, that they were being unfairly assessed. The dispute later was joined in by the railroads, who asserted they, too, were not being taxed properly.

Recently the tax commissioner ruled retail dealers of cigarets had to place the tax stamp on the original container, not on the cellophane wrapper. This was strongly objected to by retail dealers, who pointed out sale of cigarets netted them but a small margin of profit. They said this extra work would result in a loss in handling the cigarets.

Manufacturers of cigarets objected to the order. The tax commissioner said he asked the manufacturers to treat the wrapper so the stamp, once placed on the package, could not be removed. He said the reason for placing the stamp on the inside of the wrapper was to enforce this law, which he asserted, had been violated by retailers, who took the stamp off after sale of the package.

OPERATORS FORM "LAST MAN'S CLUB"

OKMULGEE, Okla.—A "Last Man's Club," its members confined to veteran telegraphers who laboriously dispatched messages years ago with old hand keys, has been organized here.

A bottle of wine was consecrated at a recent banquet at the home of M. C. Harper. Speeches were made, but they were not for the uninitiated.

At each member's chair a telegraph sending and receiving instrument was installed. Conversations were carried on in the Morse code.

largest holders of capital stock in the Thomas A. Edison Co., Inc., whose surplus earnings are now rated at $7,000,000 but which in 1917 were rated at $150,000,000. She also owns large blocks of real estate in Manhattan, New Jersey, Florida and Madison, Wis. Among her holding in Manhattan is one hotel and two apartment buildings.

She also owns Glenmont, the beautiful 13-acre estate in Llewellyn park, where she and her husband spent most of their married life. The property is valued at $10,000 an acre, the family admits, but you could not buy it for a quarter of a million, even in this depressed market.

Acts As Advisor

Mrs. Edison acting on the advice of lawyers who were thoroughly conversant with the ramifications of financial organizations, is said to have evolved the method by which Edison held 91 per cent of his various companies and the Edison family held the other nine. William Gilmore, who is said to have been brought down from Schenectady and the General Electric Co. on Mrs. Edison's suggestion was the man who was responsible for the forming in 1911 of the Thomas A. Edison Industries, Inc.

OLD LANGUAGES LOSE

By International News Service

MEDFORD, Mass.—Students at Tufts and Jackson colleges appear to have lost their appeal for ancient languages. The rosters of both colleges shows that only sixteen of the 157 freshmen in the school of liberal arts are candidates for bachelor of art degrees. Women students have taken a decided trend toward the dead languages with 51 of the 77 freshmen taking either Latin or Greek. The most popular profession among the students is pedagogy, more than half the students planning to become teachers upon graduation.

HERE'S One CLOTHIER WHO IS MAKING BETTER CLOTHES INSTEAD of POORER ONES...

RICHMAN BROTHERS ARE THE WORLD'S LARGEST CLOTHING SPECIALISTS AT $22.50

If you're wondering where in the world you can still buy an inexpensive suit or overcoat that hasn't been cheapened in quality for the sake of luring you with a price-appeal . . . stop wondering and come to good old reliable Richman Brothers.

Here's one clothing manufacturing business that dares to be different . . . a clothing manufacturing business that has enough confidence in the common sense of the American people to make better clothes while nearly everyone else is making cheaper ones.

If you're the sort of American citizen who admires the maker who raises his quality standards while nearly everyone else is lowering them, you will express yourself in a way that leaves no room for misunderstanding . . . Show by your patronage that you prefer clothes that are built up to a standard, not clothes built down to a price.

America's largest manufacturer also offers you the greatest selection—featuring pure worsted suits—Boucle Overcoats—Camel's Hair Topcoats—and an endless variety of other fabrics—new colors—new styles—in size ranges to fit every man.

HOW ABOUT YOU?

The United Market would rather you criticise their meat prices than have you censure them for selling poor quality. You can't have high quality meats at low quality price. You get just what you pay for in this world, nothing more. That rule applies to any business. We cater to that class of people who are careful about the quality of the meat they eat. A bad, tough piece of meat will spoil an otherwise good meal. Only the best at the United, and costs you less.

Cut Your Expenses!

The easiest way to cut expenses and save money this winter is to prevent sickness expense. Thousands of women are adopting the health habit of giving a mild laxative-tonic to members of the family every week. This prevents or checks colds, headaches, dizziness, biliousness, and constipation.

LOST! 41 Lbs. Of FAT In 3 Weeks

Popular Detroit Girl Overcomes With Joy—Reduced Hips Six Inches, Bust Six Inches—Wears Smaller Size Dresses—Feels Fine—Wins Many New Friends, and Goes Everywhere Now.

If you are handicapped with excessive weight, indigestion, dizziness and other torture that plagues the fatter—wouldn't it make you happy beyond description to have an experience like this pretty Detroit girl? Don't say it can't be done, for such reports are constantly coming from the hundreds of people in Detroit, the many Battle Creek converts, the men and women in every walk of life who have taken advantage of the offer to take off excess poundage by obtaining Marmola Prescription Tablets and following directions. Read the almost unbelievable story of Miss Jean Spencer, 7021 Lynch, Floral, Detroit, Michigan, who writes:

"I weighed 207 pounds—fifty pounds too much. In three short months I lost 41 pounds of fat, as shown by the scales. I was given only an hour to live. I was so weak and nervous I could not walk across the room. I had to be helped to and from my chair. I had no pep and was always tired. I was a nervous wreck. Now I feel like a new person. I have gained in weight, my health and appearance have improved to the point where I am the envy of my friends. I have taken off many dress sizes. I am grateful to Marmola Prescription Tablets for what they have done for me."

You may get here all results in three weeks. But if you have excess fat you can lose it in the same safe, sane and reliable" as shown in this case. Just the next week before retiring, take Marmola Prescription Tablets as directed in treatment. If after the first week you do not feel you are getting results, if you do not feel better, if you are not delighted with the way you are losing fat, return the empty package to us and we will refund your money without question. Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by druggists everywhere. Don't accept substitutes. Don't delay. Get a package today. Results will surprise you. Marmola Prescription Tablets, 1252 Stephenson Building, Detroit, Michigan.

The Facts In The Case

TWO LEAGUE GAMES OCCUPY ATTENTION OF N. C. O. GRID FANS

Galion Plays at Ashland; Harding Host to Unbeaten Tyger Eleven.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

Brief signal drills are expected to occupy the attention today of four North Central Ohio league football teams as they complete a week of intensive practice for a brace of league conflicts Saturday. The title warfare this week will bring Mansfield and Harding together on Fairground field here and Galion and Ashland together on the Hilltoppers' home field. A fifth league entry, Bucyrus, will play a charity engagement with Kenton, a non-league foe at Bucyrus and the sixth member of the circuit, Shelby, will be idle.

The battle between Mansfield and Harding will see Mansfield attempting to break the jinx which has been held over them for two years by the Presidents. Mansfield has not been beaten by any team since 1928 but Harding has tied the Tygers twice since the Murphy-coached lads started on their winning escapade, a record which no other opponents of the Tygers can match.

Were it not for the fact that Harding apparently figures the logical thing to do is play the best football of the season against Mansfield the game would not look like much of a battle. On paper Mansfield has a distinct edge, having won four straight games against harding's record of four defeats and a single tie. However, a strenuous battle will in all probability result when these two rivals clash.

If previous results could be taken as a sure indication of the future, Ashland could take it for granted that the Galion Orangemen would be easy foes when these two teams get together in their annual setto at Ashland. Ashland has by far the more impressive record but Galion is expected to display an improved brand of football this week. If they do the Hilltoppers will be in for a busy afternoon although they should emerge on top when the final score is tabulated. Galion is hard hit by injuries and scarcely figures to do more than hold the game to a close score.

INJURIES HIT SQUAD

Shift in Harding Lineup Looms as Presidents Buck Mansfield.

Slated to oppose the toughest league foe of the season Saturday, Coach D. N. Boyher is again confronted with a flock of injuries among his first stringers. The injuries will probably cause a considerable shift to be made in the lineup of Harding Saturday but will probably not weaken the starting eleven to any great extent. It will, however, weaken the team in its reserve power, an important factor in a game of this magnitude.

Dick Morgan, quarterback, reinjured an ailing shoulder in yesterday's drill and will probably not be able to play more than part of the game. Pickerel, end, suffered a badly bruised shoulder Wednesday and is not likely to start. Williams, center, is nursing a charley horse, McDaniels, end, has a bad knee, and Junior Clay's ankle is in none too good condition.

Thursday afternoon's practice session indicated that Bohyer is likely to send his charges against Mansfield in something like the following order: McDaniels, left end, Firstenberger, left tackle, Jevas, left guard, Williams, center, Clark, right guard Foltz right tackle, Clay, right end, Whitcum, quarterback, Lindsey and Keller, halfbacks, and Carls, fullback. Lindsey would do the signal calling with this backfield arrangement.

Iowa-born young men constitute 83 per cent of this year's University of Iowa football squad.

Ray Morrison, Jr., 14, son of Southern Methodist coach, is playing football for Highland Park high of Dallas, Tex.

UNBEATEN TYGERS BATTLE HARDING SATURDAY

Pictured above is the unbeaten Mansfield High school football team which is scheduled to invade Marion Saturday for the annual battle with the Harding Presidents at Fairground field. The Mansfield aggregation has gone through 21 consecutive games without having been beaten. Four ties, however, mar the otherwise perfect record, two of the deadlocks coming at the hands of Harding.

To date this season the Tygers have beaten Galion, Upper Sandusky, Columbus Aquinas and Garrettsville without having been extended in any game.

THREE BIG 10 TEAMS AT CROSSROADS OF CHAMPIONSHIP RACE

Two Almost Certain To Join Ranks of Beaten; Ohio Plays Indiana.

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Oct 30—Three more Big Ten football teams, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Indiana, will reach the crossroads of the championship season tomorrow.

The trio, with Northwestern, has not been defeated in Big Ten competition, although Indiana has a scoreless tie with Iowa on its books, and if they run according to predictions, there will be only two teams left in the select circle after tomorrow's chores have been done.

Minnesota and Wisconsin meet at Minneapolis in the top game of the conference schedule and appear so evenly matched predictions on the outcome are few and conservative. Both have good backfields, but the Wisconsin line, playing as it did against Purdue, may be the margin of difference.

Buckeyes Favored

Indiana must meet Ohio State and the Buckeyes will enter the battle with a big edge. Indiana walloped Chicago's weak outfit, 32 to 6 last week, but was unable to score on Iowa the week before. Ohio had power enough to hold Northwestern's powerful Wildcats to 10 points last Saturday and figures to win.

Northwestern will be after its third straight victory over Illinois at Evanston, and probably will get it without much trouble. The Wildcats will be in even better physical condition than they were last week against Ohio, while Illinois has shown little improvement. The Illini, who have lacked speed, especially in the line are wishing for a wet day, figuring rain will be more of a handicap to the Wildcats than to themselves.

Purdue on Warpath

Purdue is primed for a big scoring effort against Chicago, aiming at 40 or more points. The Maroons, biggest hope is to score on the Boilermakers and maintain their record of counting against all Big Ten opponents this season to date. Chicago lost to Michigan, but got a touchdown, and managed to do the same against Indiana.

Iowa has a forward passing offense ready for the invasion by George Washington University of Washington, D. C., and the Hawkeyes who have not scored a point this season, are confident of victory.

Michigan and Notre Dame, the midwest's representative in the east this week, are favored over Princeton and Carnegie Tech, respectively. The Irish are planning on taking the Skibos in stride, with Pennsylvania to be met next week at South Bend.

Y-Indus Five Opens Drill for Coming Cage Campaign

The Shovel Y-Indus basketball team, Marion's leading amateur cage organization and one of the best quintets in central Ohio, will commence active preparation tonight for the 1931-32 hardwood campaign. Captain and manager Donald (Bud) Cram has ordered the squad to report for the initial drill today at 7 p. m. The first practice will be held at the Steam Shovel gymnasium, home floor of the club.

The club has already arranged 14 games for the coming season and will probably add at least that many more. Owing to a recent ruling of the Ohio college conference barring independent team competition Cram is finding difficulty in scheduling college opposition. At present Findlay and Defiance of the Northwest Ohio conference are the only college fivrs on the Y-Indus schedule.

Two New Players

Two new members have been added to the Y-Indus club roster. Milt Pohler, a husky guard who played with the championship First Presbyterian church team last season and Kenneth Gallant, another guard are the two. Pohler, it is certain, will be a distinct asset to the quintet. Gallant, a former Bluffton college player, has yet to prove his worth, not having played here in previous seasons.

Bud Cram

The club will have all of its last year's members back in uniform. Bill Roush and Vic Gillis, forwards, Walter Lockwood, center, Bud Cram and Bill Keller guards, Chuck Osterholt, center and guard; Bill Fetter, forward; Kenneth Crawford and Duane Church, guards compose the squad.

Have New Uniforms

The club will play this season in a new set of Blue and Gold uniforms, purchased for them by a group of interested Marion merchants. The first game will be played with Pleasant High school as the opponent on Nov. 12 at Pleasant. The team will engage in a few warm-up engagements before stepping into faster company.

The schedule of games booked to date:

Nov. 12, Pleasant High school there; Nov. 18, Green Camp here; Nov. 26, Mt. Vernon Y. M. C. A. here; Dec. 3, Columbus Amerigo club here; Dec. 5, Defiance college there; Dec. 9, Mt. Vernon Y. M. C. A. there; Dec. 10, Findlay college there; Dec. 12, Cleveland Gear & Forging company here; Dec. 16, Fostoria Y. M. C. A. there; Dec. 19, Cleveland Gear & Forging company there; Dec. 21, Crestline Y. M. C. A. there; Dec. 26, Strauss Basketball club of Indianapolis here; Jan. 2, Youngstown Y. M. C. A. here; Jan. 16, Mt. Vernon Y. M. C. A. there.

CHALLENGER FAILS TO EXTEND CHAMP

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 30—Tony Canzoneri's title "defense" against Phillie Griffin, of Newark proved just a light workout for the chunky little New York Italian.

Canzoneri, who holds two world's championships, risked the lesser of them, the junior welterweight crown, last night but had no trouble at all keeping it in his possession, winning the decision by a wide margin after ten easy rounds. For the first five rounds, when Griffin appeared disturbed by the thought of being in the same ring with a champion, Tony hardly exerted himself at all. Then when the Newark boy began to fight, Canzoneri fought back, had Phillie up against the ropes a couple of times and put on one flurry that looked as if he might knock out his rival before he eased up again for the finish.

Admission Slashed.

By The Associated Press

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 30 — Anyone wishing to watch Illinois' last two home games of the Big Ten season, in which Wisconsin and Chicago will be met, may do so at the cost of $1. The university board of athletic control has reduced the price of seats in the south stand, behind the goal posts, from $3 to $1, in an effort to increase attendance figures. They will be sold on the days of games. Reserved seat prices will remain at $3.

CRESTLINE BEATEN BY UPPER SANDUSKY

UPPER SANDUSKY, Oct. 30—After being defeated in the first six games of their schedule this year the local high school football team defeated Crestline here yesterday afternoon by a score of 12 to 0. The first half of the game was scoreless although in the first quarter Upper had the ball only inches from the Crestline goal. In the third period, Bringman took the ball over for the first touchdown of the game, the try for extra point failed. Jarrell crossed the goal line in the final quarter for the other Upper Sandusky score.

The summary:

Crestline (0)		Pos.	U. San. (12)

AKRON MIDGET "11" LOSES BATTLE 15-0

By United Press

AKRON, O., Oct. 30—The Akron Red Peppers lost the middle west title of bantamweight football to Mooseheart, Ill., last night by a score of 12 to 0, before 9,000 spectators.

In losing for the first time this season, the Akron youngsters were unable to stave off the rushes of Long, Mooseheart left half back, who scored both touchdowns.

Boys on the two teams weighed less than 100 pounds.

CANADIAN CHAMPION IN SEMI-FINAL BOUT OF MONDAY "RASSLE"

Ernie Arthur Meets Larry Straub in Prelim to Kilonis-Robinson Go.

Hot on the heels of Clete Kauffman's announcement that he had signed "Gentle John" Kilonis of Norfolk, Va., to wrestle "Cyclone Clyn" Robinson of St. Louis in a two best out of three falls return match here on next Monday night, comes the statement that he had signed Ernie Arthur, holder of the Canadian welterweight championship belt, for an appearance here in the semi-final of Monday's bill at Shovel gym.

Arthur will clash with Larry Straub, sensational young welterweight from Columbus, O., in a two-fall, 45-minute limit contest.

The signing of Arthur for a local appearance brings to Marion fans, the opportunity to witness one of the greatest of Canadian grapplers in action.

Arthur won his belt, emblematic of the Canadian title, seven years ago and has successfully withstood all assaults upon it. Not only is he highly rated in his own beloved Dominion where he is recognized as champion of all Britain's colonies but he is also rated as one of the outstanding 145 pounders in the world and is highly respected by American welters.

So enthusiastic have local mat devotees became that steps have been taken to enlarge the seating capacity of Shovel gym to take care of the increasing crowds that are attending these thrilling weekly mat events.

Last week's match nearly filled the spacious gym and every seat was taken, but there will be 300 additional seats installed this week and everybody is assured a seat at Monday night's matches.

RULE-MAKERS FAVOR KICKOFF RETENTION

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—Agitation to abolish the kickoff as a result of the death of Dick Sheridan in the Yale-Army game has met with a somewhat chilly reception from the football rules committee.

Six members of the committee of nine when asked for comment by The Associated Press, indicated they favored retention of the kickoff. Two others declined to comment and the ninth could not be reached.

H. J. Stegeman of the University of Georgia expressed the views of most of the rules committee members when he called the kickoff one of the most spectacular in the game and declared it resulted in no more injuries than other formations.

WAL, POLLY'S PSYCHOLOGIST HAS HAD ANGEL UNDER OBSERVATION FER A WEEK! WOT'S HIS VERDICT?
HE SAYS SHE HAS A INFERIORITY COMPLEX!
YOU SEE THE REASON SHE'S SO NAUGHTY IS BECAUSE IT'S HER ONLY WAY OF BEING DIFFERENT!
YEAH?
YEAH, HE'S TRYING TO DISCOVER SOME LATENT TALENT IN HER SO THAT SHE CAN BE TRAINED TO EXCEL AT IT!
TELL THE FELLER TUET WELL ENOUGH ALONE, DAG NAB IT!
JEES IMAGINE ANGEL WITH A COMPLEX AN' A SWELL HEAD TOOT!
HON. HORRORS!

BRINGING UP FATHER — BY GEORGE McMANUS

IT'S JUST TERRIBLE - ALL THE ROBBERIES THAT ARE GOING ON - I'M AFRAID TO GO OUT-
BY GOLLY - YOU SAID IT - AN' YOU NEVER SEE A POLICEMAN ON THE STREET
I DON'T THINK THERE IS A COP ON THIS BEAT - I WONDER IF THE KITCHEN IS LOCKED UP - I MUST TELL THE COOK TO BE SURE TO KEEP IT LOCKED-
OH! I BEG YOUR PARDON!
WELL! I SHOULD THINK YOU WOULD-
WHERE THAT SMELL?

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meat, Grain, Livestock

Asparagus, first appearance of shipped-in supply on local markets, is being offered by many dealers at 39 cents a pound. The quality and selling quality are reported good with a good supply being shipped in. The supply is expected to be built up in the next few days.

Concord grapes in two-quart amounts are slightly lower, selling at 15 cents. The 12-quart baskets are still selling at 45 cents. The supply is good, with the quality also reported good.

Cranberries are selling well, dealers report, with most of them asking 19 cents a pound. The quality and supply are said to be good. Florida oranges are on the market in fair supply, dealers say, with prices ranging from 35 to 45 cents a dozen.

A smaller variety of baking squash is on the market now and said to be selling well at three pounds for 10 cents. Peppers are in good supply, dealers report, with prices remaining at three for five cents. The end of the home-grown supply is near, according to indications.

GRAIN PRICES TEND UPWARD

Corn and Wheat Both Advance, Influenced by Liverpool Reports.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 30—Grain prices tended upward early today, influenced by Liverpool reports of scarcity of wheat sellers. Offerings of wheat at Liverpool, it was stated, were confined to tenders of shipments from North America. Opening unchanged to ¼ cent higher, wheat continued to point upward, corn started at ¼@½ advance and subsequently rose further.

Wheat bulls laid stress on Russian advices that Ural grain deliveries to Oct. 20 were only 12.2 per cent of the expected total. It was further reported that Russia's 1931 adverse trade balance January to August was 211,000,000 rubles, compared with 87,000,000 rubles during the same period of 1930. Bearish traders made much of Winnipeg advices that any announcement of the new British government's intentions to carry out promises of protection to British growers and greater preferences to the British colonies would be bearish on United States wheat, especially when advances such as recently have been witnessed.

Corn displayed relative strength much of the time as compared with wheat. Demand for corn west of the Missouri river was reported to be keen owing to partial crop failure over large areas. An authoritative unofficial crop summary issued today covering the corn belt as a whole put 1931 production at 2,580,000,000 bushels compared with 2,703,000,000 officially forecast in the government October crop report. The merchantiable quality in the seven leading states was given as 80 to 95 against 55 to 92 for the same states last year.

WITH EDNA B. DUTTON

LIFE with the gay rich, high finance, a bank failure, the Wall Street crash of 1929 and of course a romance furnish the thrills in Rex Beach's new novel, "Money Mad."

Romance enters the plot when Wilmer Worth is rescued from a watery grave by Florida Morgan and her father, the former posing as an aviator and the latter as rum runners. Worth, as "Falconer" finds it easy to remain at the fishing camp of Florida and her father but after treading on dangerous ground runs away leaving Florida a few thousand dollars.

Because Morgan is a good fellow and would rather fish than attend to his duties as vice president of the bank in his home town, he is made the goat in the bank failure and lands in prison. The death of Florida's mother breaks up the home and the girl's Southern pride sends her to New York to make money to pay off her father's debt. With the aid of a woman of wealth and eccentric ideas with whom Florida has become a great favorite and her own beauty and personality, it is easy for her to take her place in the circles her position places her and it is a gay life she leads on Wall Street.

Through the influence of an unknown friend her father is released from prison just as the crash breaks and things happen fast and furious. The discovery at a gay and brilliant party, that Falconer and Wanda Worth's husband are one and the same breaks the friendship between the two women and the reader isn't particularly sorry.

Wilmer Worth doesn't seem such a bad sort when he tells his wife of his affair at the Florida fishing camp and one can work up a little sympathy for him when Florida speaks her mind.

The final chapter finds Florida and her father back in the sunny South doing a fine business at the fishing camp Wanda Worth passes out of the picture in the dramatic way one expects and it looks as though all were going to live happily ever after.

Pirandello Play Has Readers Puzzled

"AS YOU DESIRE ME," by Luigi Pirandello, Italy's leading contemporary dramatist, is a play about yourself as you never known yourself. It will reveal to you unsuspected secrets of your own ego and of the inner life of those about you.

The plot is based upon an actual circumstance and in Pirandello's treatment of the situation a wife who disappears from her villa in northern Italy during a war raid is discovered 10 years later, but in duplicate. The first discovery is a fascinatingly beautiful creature, but a woman nameless and dissolute, a fallen goddess become a cabaret dancer in Berlin.

The reader knows her first in an atmosphere of extravagance, tragedy and vice in a bizarre Berlin apartment as the mistress of an author whose career she has wrecked. Among the revelers from the cabaret who have followed her to her apartment is a mysterious stranger who insists that he recognized her as Lucia, the wife of a dear friend of his, Bruno Pieri, to whom she must return, a woman who disappeared 10 years before during a raid by the enemy of the village to which the husband had taken her as a bride.

The second act shows that the stranger has been successful. The lady of mystery has broken free from her Berlin revelries and is in the conventional home of Bruno Pieri as his wife.

And then a second Lucia is discovered and in revenge brought to the home by the former lover in Berlin. She too resembles the bride of 10 years ago. The establishment of identity hangs on the color of the eye and a birthmark.

The attitude of the husband and the final action of the nameless one come as a great surprise leaving families and friends disagreeing as to the identity of the dramatic figure. The play is a Dutton publication.

Scheming Women Furnishes Plot

WILLIAM ALMON WOLFF, author of "Manhattan Night," has now written a novel of unusual distinction based upon the ruin caused by a woman's selfishness, in "A Song of Sixpence," published by Minton Balch. John Thorpe, a promising young novelist, is compelled to grind out pot-boilers in order to maintain the social standard demanded by his ambitious and brilliant wife, Penia, who pursues her ends relentlessly until at last she forfeits her husband's respect in a splendid portrait of a supremely selfish and scheming woman, who is never at a loss to justify herself in any line of conduct her ambition may dictate.

1926-1926 Called "The Brown Decades"

"THE Brown Decades" by Louis Mumford, reviewer and historian, is a study of the arts in America, from 1865 to 1895. The author finds in that period the source of the development in arts which has come in startling years to place the foundation of modern architecture in the building of Rockefeller Rest and Rockefeller, the development of the graphic arts in paintings of Whistler Homer, Eakins and Ryder. Emily Dickinson is seen as a quiet but potent mirror of the period and Whitman's strident influence is clearly traced.

Author Is Also Crime Specialist

UNDER the pen name of Louis Cornell the author of "Poison Case No. 10," published by Brentano's, is reintroduced to the reading public as a writer of mystery stories. As a matter of fact, he is well known under other names as a writer of mysterious plays, motion picture scenarios and other books on special subjects. As a young man living in France he met the head of the Paris Surete and became intensely interested in modern methods of crime detection. His absorption in this hobby led him to join the New York police force in which he did brilliant work as a detective. Since returning to private life he has written a number of exhaustive monographs on lethal poisons, venoms, narcotics and special criminology. He is also the owner of what is probably the largest and most unique library of books in America on legerdemain, Oriental jugglery and the "black arts."

Norwegian Writer Tells Story of Fox

MIKKJEL FONHUS is one of Norway's most popular authors and is particularly noted for his writings on nature subjects. "Jaampa, the Silver Fox" is his first book to appear in translation here. It is one of Putnam's early October publications. The story recounts the adventures of a silver fox from the mountains of northern Norway, who is captured and finally escapes to roam again in the wilderness. Fonhus has spent most of his life in the Norwegian forests and his story of Jaampa is told with fidelity to nature and with unusual understanding of animals.

Lady Cameron Writes Story

"MERRILY I Go to Hell" by Lady Mary Cameron is an autobiographical story written by the madcap daughter of an English bishop. A rebel child from infancy, she escaped the staidness of her British home by getting herself expelled from the exclusive St. Ann's school after many wild escapades. At 16 she ran away to go into the War. Then followed a fast-moving life in which she became a nurse, a dishwasher, an ambulance driver, an oxy-acetylene welder, a government clerk, an actress. Restless, ever avid for more experiences, she went to London, Paris, Hong Kong, Ceylon, Calcutta, Australia, Canada and finally America. Her impudent humor attracted many men to her and she made many friends with women throughout the world. Elaine who "wanted to learn the secrets of life but was too timid," Horace who loved her but was a bore; Patrick whom she married after a whirlwind courtship and who was killed a week later at the front. Lady Mary tells her story with exuberant charm and humor ending with her experiences as a Theater Guild actress in New York and her supreme adventure.

Hoskins Writes New Novel

"AN ANGEL in the Room," is a new fall publication by Putnam's. The author is Gerard Hoskins. Philip Lothbury, just returned from the East, goes to Chelsea on a spring evening to dine with his old friends Helen and David Malham. The story opens at this point and ends two or three hours later with Philip's departure, ignorant of the fact that he has witnessed a crisis in the lives of at least two of the company of diners.

CLASS FOUNDER DIES

MRS. J. S. RAYL

MRS. J. S. RAYL, 74, CLAIMED AT HOME

Was Prominent Member of Trinity Baptisty Church; Ill 10 Months.

Mrs. J. S. Rayl, 74, founder of the Rayl Sunday school class of Trinity Baptist church, died at her home Thursday at 3:50 p. m. after an illness of 10 months. She was ill of complications and had been bedfast for nine weeks.

The Rayl class, with a membership of 240, the largest in Trinity church, was organized by Mrs. Rayl in 1908 with 13 charter members. For 12 years she was teacher of the class and after that time was designated "Mother" of the class and served as class councilor.

Mrs. Rayl was born near Columbus on Jan. 8, 1857, to Daniel and Catherine Crider Rickerson. Before her marriage on Dec. 26, 1876, to James S. Rayl, she was Miss Mary C. Rickerson. Mr. Rayl preceded her in death on March 5, 1921. She was the last member of her family. Her parents and three brothers died many years ago.

Surviving Mrs. Rayl are two daughters, Miss Zona B. Rayl and Mrs. Aimee R. Conyers and a grandson, Rayl B. Conyers, all residing at the family home on Pearl street.

The funeral will be Saturday at 2 p. m. at Trinity Baptist church with Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor, officiating. The body may be viewed at the Schaffner-Queen funeral home until Saturday at 10 a. m. when it will be removed to the church to lie until funeral time. Burial will be made in Marion cemetery.

STUDENTS ASSUME NURSEMAID ROLES

By United Press

TORONTO, Ont.—This depression is sharpening the minds of landladies, so several of the students attending the University of Toronto have discovered to their sorrow.

Shoveling snow and coal, attending to furnaces, and working around the house is not unusual in return for room and board, but this year a new game has been instituted, and it is called, "minding babies." Two or three evenings a week, so several of the students have reported, their landladies go out to play bridge and in their absence, the student roomers have to mind the babies.

BEQUEST MADE TO KITCHEN EMPLOYES

By United Press

WAYNESBORO, Pa.—The will of Mrs. Emma Knepper provided a fund for the hospital care of any woman earning her living by kitchen work.

The probate of the will showed a fund of $10,000 created for this purpose.

The will specified that the income of the fund was to be used for the "hospitalization of any respectable girl or woman, black or white, who has to earn her living by working in other people's kitchens."

The United States Bureau of Standards has succeeded in producing crystals of rubber by dissolving the material in ether and cooling it at a temperature 80 degrees below zero Centigrade.

CONDUCTS CAMPAIGN

COMMANDANT GAUGH

ARMY WORKER HERE TO HOLD SERVICES

Commandant Lee Gaugh of Lima To Be in Charge of Services.

Commandant Lee Gaugh of Lima, formerly in charge of the local Salvation Army work here, arrived today to assist Captain John Hunter in conducting the "Fight It Through" campaign which is being sponsored throughout the country by the Salvation Army. Services began Friday of last week in more than 2,000 posts in the United States and will continue until Nov. 15.

Commandant Gaugh will remain here until the close of the campaign and will conduct the services each night, beginning at 7:30 in the Salvation Army hall. Wednesday will be a "red letter" day in the campaign when Brigadier John Allan and Ensign William Dewsbury of Columbus will come to Marion to take part in the services.

Word received today from Ensign Dewsbury by Captain Hunter stated that the local Salvation Army Sunday school was in first place in the attendance contest which is being staged in the district. An increase of 43 in the attendance last Sunday brought the total up to 217, it is announced. The goal set for next Sunday is 250, Captain Hunter announced.

MARRIES TO HOLD JOB

By United Press

GOSHEN, Ind.—A man has to stay married to keep a job, said Walter Good, 55, Three Rivers, Mich., as he obtained a license here to wed Mrs. Della Schrock, 50. "A single man can't get a job any more," Good said. "That's why I'm getting married—for the third time." It also was the third marriage venture for the bride.

ARMY FLIERS TO TEST NEW PLANES

By United Press

MT. CLEMENS, Mich.—Two-seated pursuit planes will be tried out for the first time by the army at Selfridge field this winter, according to Maj. Gerald E. Brower, flight commander of the first pursuit group.

Major Brower said 24 of the new type planes were being sent here to undergo tests to determine how they can be used to the greatest advantage.

The depression has cut into the activities of flying officers, Major Brower revealed. Whereas an officer usually flies 400 hours a year, he now is flying at the rate of about 220 hours yearly, he said.

MODERN SLANG IN NEW DICTIONARY

CHICAGO—Noah Webster might have thumbed through all his source books and etymological tables in vain and never found definitions of some of the words listed in the new "Historical Dictionary of American English."

Indeed, the worthy lexicographer might be profoundly shocked, could he return today to examine the new dictionary being prepared under the auspices of the University of Chicago and the editorship of Sir William Craigie, for 30 years editor of the Oxford dictionary.

In the new dictionary is found the language of the street, the night club and the speakeasy, of inventions, institutions and developments undreamed of when Webster set himself to his task.

More than 400,000 words have been recorded for the new book. A few examples of words follow:

Bootleg, speakeasy, blah, fizzle, whoopee, ace, black bottom, deb, awful, debunk, blighter, dizzy, finicky, Black Maria, blockhead.

GOAT SENTENCED

RAVENNA, O.—Contrary to precedent, police court has sentenced a billy goat for assault and battery. The goat in question attacked Mrs. Millie Wolfe from behind, causing slight injuries. SUNDAY SCHOOL HAS HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Salem Evangelical Church Scene of Annual Social.

Members of the Sunday school of Salem Evangelical church held their annual Hallowe'en party last night in the basement of the church with about 80 in attendance.

The party was sponsored by the Sunday school and was in charge of the Three M class and the Sons of Salem class with Clarence Pfeiffer as chairman.

The program opened with a grand march with Misses Evanine Ebert and Marydell Burchette at the piano. Members of the Sunday school, under the direction of Constance Reinwald and Clarence Pfeiffer, entertained with comedy skits and Miss Grace Koenig was in charge of a sketch, "Skinning the Cat." The fortune telling was presided over by Mrs. Carl Reiff and Miss Grace Koenig and Miss Constance Reinwald were in charge of a game, "String Race." "Living Silhouettes" was directed by Walter Hittenrauch and Edward Melvin.

First honors for the best costume were won by Fred Pfeiffer and second honors were awarded Rev. Paul Bourquin. Lunch was served during the social hour and music closed the celebration.

U. S. Has More Pilots Than Other Air Powers Combined

By International News Service

WASHINGTON—Back of the fighting flying corps, out of the military picture but nevertheless a powerful air power factor, the United States has today more airplane pilots than have the five other important air powers combined.

There are 16,709 civilian pilots in the United States, according to figures held authentic by government officials. The British empire, ranking second, lists 3,427 pilots. Russia has 2,106 Germany 902, Francee 858, Japan 650, and Italy 613.

These pilots are not trained combat filers. They are however, men to whom flying is not new. They are men who have passed rigid flying tests under commerce department air regulations, who can fly an airplane, transport goods and personnel by air.

Plenty of Reserves

Army officials regard the civilian pilots as an important reserve in time of war. They pointed out that replacements were steadily necessary under wartime conditions, and that the United States would have a broad, fertile field to draw fighting pilots from should war come. A few Army pilots, they declared, could "do wonders" with a group of men already familiar with flying.

Under war conditions, statistics revealed, these pilots would be allocated to 175 training centers throughout the country, and put through a rigid course in combat flying. The important advantage of their flying experience it was pointed out, would be the fact that much of the elementary training which in "green men" takes up the longer portion of a combat flying course, could be dispensed with.

Great Britain would have more training points for her 3,427 civilian centers than would America, however, according to figures. She could start operations immediately at 208 points.

Russia's Facilities Small

Russia, with all her expense of territory and in the midst of an air expansion program, has today but 51 centers where combat flying training could be started immediately. France has 26, Italy 20 Japan 15 and Germany 12.

France would have a distinct advantage in the air in case of war as a result of her overwhelmingly large active air corps, but the United States has 10,235 civil airplanes which could be used in some connection, immediately. Against this there are British figures of 2,070 planes, while France has but 1,320 registered civil planes. Italy 750, Germany 746, Russia 490 and Japan 360.

If the necessary arose for building combat airplanes speedily France would step ahead in this field, with a production capacity of 200 planes a month. Great Britain's emergency capacity for building fighting airplanes is estimated at 150 a month, Italy ranking third with an 80 plane monthly capacity.

The United States could today start making fighting planes at the rate of 75 a month. Russia could build 60 a month, Japan 60, while Germany, blocked in military aviation through post-world war treaties, could not build a single plane the first month. She would have to convert civil airplane factories into military production first.

2,500 MEN WORK AT BOULDER DAM

By United Press

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—There are at least 2,500 men now actively engaged on the Boulder dam project, helping to spend part of the $48,000,000 contract of the Six Companies.

Exclusive of subcontractors, the force of men building Boulder City and Hoover dam under the Big Six contract reached a total of 1,829 during recent weeks.

VALUABLE INDIAN RELICS COLLECTED

By United Press

BELOIT, Wis.—Logan Museum's expeditionary forces, returned here from a summer trip to New Mexico, where they gathered Indian pottery, bowls and beads, believe the Beloit college's collection of potsherds is unrivaled in the United States.

Led by Paul Nesbitt, young curator of the museum, the expedition removed specimens from three New Mexico sites, at Mattock's Ranch ruin, Reserve; and at Alamogordo.

Their findings included 2,625 stone beads, 100 bowls and other pottery and potsherds, and fragments of earthenware. All were products of ancient Indian tribes, particularly the Mimbres, a "vanished" group.

OUTWIT DISTILLERS

By United Press

CENTRAL FALLS, R. I.—Police outwitted devisers of a system of electrically controlled locks when they raided a distillery in the so-called "Moonshine Center" here. The raiders drove nails into the walls. The nails struck wires, caused a short circuit and the electric locks failed to work.

Explorer Finds Unsought Fame in Western Wilds as Rainmaker

By International News Service

CHICAGO—Dr. Paul S. Martin, director of a Field Museum archaeological expedition to the American Southwest, has returned to Chicago with tales of how he gained a reputation as a powerful rain-making wizard.

In the southwest corner of Colorado, where the expedition excavated the prehistoric Indian site known as the Lowry Ruin, there had been a drouth for many months. Many of the superstitious farmers in the region paid "rain-makers" and "water witches" to offer up prayers for rain.

Dr. Martin and his associates, during their work, excavated several kivas or underground ceremonial chambers used by Indians more than 1,000 years ago. In one of these was discovered a prayer stick" of a type used by the ancient medicine man to bring rain.

Some of the laborers in the expedition wanted to know how the stick was used, so Dr. Martin demonstrated, going through all the ceremonial motions with the instrument and mumbling a chant. Only a few hours after he had pointed the "prayer stick" at the four corners of the heavens, there was thunder and lightning, and a torrential rain, the first in months began to fall.

The story spread, and farmers soon came to ask Dr. Martin to make more rain. He protested, explaining that what had happened was merely a coincidence.

Not until he had employed the "prayer stick" in several other ceremonies were the natives convinced that the expedition director had no supernatural powers to invoke rain.

The Lowry Ruin is a mound about 30 feet high, 300 feet long, and 100 feet wide. The most important discovery of the summer according to Dr. Martin, was that the ruin is out of place geographically according to previous archaeological concepts.

ction May Decide Control of Congress

xt Tuesday Will Name Five for Seats in Lower House; Hard Contests Waged in Various Districts.

Associated Press
GTON Oct. 30—The out-cial elections Nov 3 to gressional seats will go determining which po- will control the house enty second congress in December crats hopeful of a suc sion into Republican e waging hard contests Ohio and the eighth istricts e Republicans appear lent of retaining these Republican districts here say the outcomes

John B. Hollister is the Republican candidate for the seat held for more than a quarter of a century by the late Speaker Nicholas Longworth.

State Senator David Lorbach, Democratic nominee appeared to have the edge in the contest until two Republican factions fighting over the Cincinnati city charter issue agreed on Hollister

Anti-Prohibitionists

Hollister and Lorbach are anti prohibitionists. The Republican who is the son of a prominent Ohio barrister has been active in Cincinnati public affairs.

In the eighth Michigan district, Michael J Hart, Democrat of Saginaw, which has 32 per cent of the vote of the district, is believed to be running a close race with Foss O Edred, the Republican, from Ionia.

Republicans Confident

Republican leaders say they expect no difficulty in electing their candidate George Coles, over Charles S Hill Democrat, in the Second Pennsylvania district traditionally Republican.

This seat was held for many years by the late George Graham, chairman of the important judiciary committee

The Democrats are confident the normally Democratic seats in the Twentieth Ohio or Cleveland district, and the Seventh New York Tammany Hall district will remain in their columns. Already two representatives elect to this New York seat have died since last November elections

Republicans here believe that there is a remote possibility that William L. Padgett, their candidate, may win over Joseph Delaney, but the Democrats discount this.

Democrats See Ohio Victory

Although the Republicans took the Twentieth Ohio district in 1920 the Democrats hold high hopes that Martin L. Sweeney will capture it from D Hayden Parry, the Republican.

Two other vacancies created recently by the death of Representative Ernest R. Ackerman Republican, of the Fifth New Jersey district and Representative Fletcher Hale Republican, of the First New Hampshire district also will figure in the house organization.

There is a possibility, however, that both these seats, normally Republican will be filled before Dec. 7 when congress convenes

SEES GOOD IN "HARD TIMES"

Dr. Carl Sawyer Tells Kiwanians of Few Benefits from Depression.

The greatest good that has come out of the depression believes Dr Carl W Sawyer, is the knowledge that every man is his brother's keeper

In an address at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club at the Marion club yesterday, Dr Sawyer, who spoke on "Good Things That Have Come Out of the Depression summed up many things which he said would result in a more worthwhile understanding of life in general

The spirit of giving which he said had developed from the necessity of extending help to the unfortunate has broadened greatly the feeling of brotherhood among mankind in general

He also said the depression has shown who are the 'babies and whiners and who are the real worthwhile people of the community" "Many who in good times sat in their offices smug and self satisfied with the thought that they could not be beaten became the whiners and babies when they faced real trouble, the speaker declared

"It has also taught us there is a limit to values' Dr Sawyer said. "Three years ago we were satisfied that there was no limit and were calm in our assurance that stocks would never cease to advance but stocks that were being pushed up above the 400 point are now selling at less than 60

The speaker also said the depression had sought to destroy the over confidence of the successful, had forced merchants and manufacturers to take their work more seriously, had forced economy and developed a new conception of labor "We had become to think that work was drudgery and sought every opportunity to avoid it. We played golf when we felt like it and let work take care of itself A five day week was being planned and steps were being taken to provide entertainment for workmen in their idle hours Now things have changed and can you imagine anyone making such plans today"

The men who are going to survive this depression according to Dr Sawyer, will be the men who have the courage to battle and unlimited faith in the future

O. W. U. DEBATERS IN ACTION TODAY

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., Oct. 30—Men debaters at Ohio Wesleyan university will open a 12-debate schedule today when four members of the squad go to Dayton for a demonstration debate before a section of the Central Ohio Teachers association at its fall meeting. The quartet will use the Oregon style of debate, which is rapidly coming into vogue among college debaters and which debate coaches in central Ohio high schools are planning to use during the coming debate season.

The four debaters are James Coultrap of Geneva, Ill., George Griffiths of Cleveland, Donald Morrison of Delaware and Elden Smith of Elyria. They will argue on the question of unemployment insurance.

Daily Proverb—"A handful of common sense is worth a bushel of learning."

South Dakota reported freezing temperatures and snow yesterday, which naturally directs attention to the coal bins which may be empty and the storm doors not yet up.

Al Capone's bodyguard, Philip D'Andrea, has been sentenced to six months in jail for toting a gun. If that becomes the practice in Chicago courts, Cook county will have a jail-building problem on its hands.

The latest Einstein theory is said to join electricity and gravitation in one structural whole. There may be something in it. Anyway, the man who slips on an icy pavement and falls, generally sees sparks.

The Akron vice department raided the home of a grocer of that city, one night recently, and found 2,000 gallons of what the raiders claim is whisky. That particular grocer must have anticipated a long dry spell.

Britain has spurned the offer of "Jake the Barber" Factor to pay over $2,000,000 if Britain will drop its extradition proceeding against him. Those British certainly aren't overly strong for compromises. Two million dollars mean nothing to them alongside making a horrible example out of a man who defrauded innocent investors out of $7,000,000.

More than 200 undesirable aliens were rounded up in Chicago and vicinity during the last thirty days and deported. That's killing two birds with one stone. Not only does it rid us of a lot of undesirables, but it will also probably help to reduce unemployment.

The second day of Los Angeles' unseasonable hot spell, this week, the mercury went up to ninety-three. There are times when the Ohioans can not be too grateful that we elected to take up our abodes in the garden spot of the world.

Senator Johnson is pleading with his fellow-Californians to demand a strong navy, not peace pacts. There is no question about the consistency of "Uncle" Hiram in advocating a navy commensurate with our standing and wealth as a nation, but it's just possible that, even were he not a strong navy man by principle, he would be able to stretch a point and become one in view of Mr. Hoover's recent stand for a naval holiday.

There is something to be said for Governor "Alfalfa Bill" Murray's lack of enthusiasm for the plan of the city council of Claremont, Oklahoma, to have Will Rogers made "American goodwill ambassador at large" to travel from country to country, spreading the gospel of goodwill with his gum and his rope. At last accounts Will was eking out a fair livelihood in one way or another.

And now the Roumanians in the United States are up in arms over Senator Borah's reference to the restoration of national boundaries in Central Europe, claiming that that would be enslaving again the 3,000,000 Roumanians in the province of Transylvania for the sake of 1,000,000 Hungarians. It's a question whether the first-page positions he drew as the result of his interview with the French correspondents will repay a man with presidential ambitions for the enmities he aroused.

It Can Be Done.

The announcement from Baltimore that its mayor voluntarily has taken a salary cut of impressive proportions is almost drowned out by cheers and congratulations from the Baltimore bleacher section. The mayor, Howard Jackson, is a sort of Pepper Martin—the hero of the hour. Perhaps a few thousand other officeholders here and there would pay well to see him in vaudeville, or they might, possibly, find him more attractive in a cage. He is, as far as an be determined, the only one of his kind, or as some other officeholders might put it, the biggest one of his kind.

It is necessary to go outside the country to find a companion for him—King George V, who voluntarily gave up some of the money paid to him annually, also. Together, they might prepare an interesting brochure on "Getting Along with the People."

It is natural to say that Baltimore's mayor and England's king gave up some of their salaries because they could do no less. That would be a misrepresentation of the circumstances. Neither is any less sure of retaining the support of the people than are thousands of other governmental officials.

Their example, good as it is, will not mean much. Public officials will stick to the belief that there should be no wage-cutting long after even the Hoover administration has departed from it reluctantly. But Mayor Jackson, of Baltimore, has proved that there can be a voluntary departure, and that's something.

Wanted, Issues.

The political recipe's first rule is: get an issue and keep it moving. Democrats, being the aggressors in the fight to fill house vacancies in five districts as they would have them filled November 3, are having their troubles. They need issues. Oh how they need them! The Republican defenders, on the other hand, can get along without issues, but would welcome some confidence.

The Hawley-Smoot tariff, faithful stalking horse, and the federal farm board are the best the Democrats have been able to scare up thus far. According to Jouett Shouse, generalissimo of the attacking forces, they must be good enough, because Republican orators have sprung to their rescue. Both sides, in that case, must be using blanks.

The Hawley-Smoot tariff has been smoked out too often. Even at that, it might have been serviceable had not depression come along with gloom heavy enough to absorb the penny ante spurt that the people can get from such a hopelessly dull thing as the tariff. There are a lot of conscientious voters, though, who are beginning to suspect that tariff, as a partisan issue, is dead when Democrats vie with Republicans in boosting rates on products turned out by the loved ones back home. Of course, if Democrats want to attack it and Republicans want to defend it, that's all right, but no one will care greatly.

The other excuse for an issue scared up by Democracy is the federal farm board, which it is in duty bound to attack. This is more to the crowd's liking. They haven't much use for the federal farm board. In fact, it would be an A-No. 1 issue if it weren't for the fact that the Democrats are halted from making the kill by the fact that the board already is quite dead, slain and chewed by a mixed crowd that still lingers in the vicinity. In the crowd is a goodly sprinkling of Republicans, just as anxious to wipe out all traces of the institution as the fastest drooling Democrats. Whatever glory there is will have to be divided equally, therefore.

The Democrats, it is reported, expect to take four out of five of the contests to be settled November 3, including Cincinnati district represented by the late Nicholas Longworth. If they do it would be openly insulting to the voters therein to believe that the Hawley-Smoot tariff and the federal farm board had anything to do with their decisions.

One Way To Beat Competition.

Inroads made by motor truck competition on railroad revenues are fundamentally important in considering the railroads' problems. The interstate commerce commission, which has just refused the railroads' request for a fifteen per cent. rate increase, and the railroads, themselves, agree that unless truck competition, subsidized by government and state-built roads and encouraged by cheap tires and gasoline, is met, no rate increase in the world can do any good.

The railroads are not twirling their thumbs and waiting for an act of providence to help them, fortunately. They are out after more business. Their efforts are being watched and applauded by a nation which realizes that a large part of its investment stability depends on sound conditions in railroad credit.

One plan sponsored by the Pennsylvania railroad and already adopted by three other eastern roads contemplates transportation by truck bodies by rail at rates below trucking costs. Truck bodies are loaded by the shipper and transported to the freight depot by motor, where they are lifted by crane onto railroad cars and shipped to their destinations. When they arrive, they are moved to distribution points again by motor. Thus, the railroads plan to compete with truck operators by doing their hauling for them more cheaply than they can afford to do it themselves.

Evidence that the railroads are working on their problems intelligently is abundant. This recent plan is a fair example of the aggressiveness which they are displaying.

Apropos of the rioting in Malta by 400 Fascist militiamen, a lot of people naturally will wonder why if Italian fascism is desirous of expansion it didn't pick some area where there was a larger proportion of land and a smaller proportion of water.

Trouble on the River.

A common pleas judge in Cincinnati has expressed his opinion of the futility of Ohio's new marriage law, as long as adjoining states apparently solicit the drunken and runaway marriage business. He refers to Kentucky, specifically. Other judges farther up the river feel the same way about West Virginia.

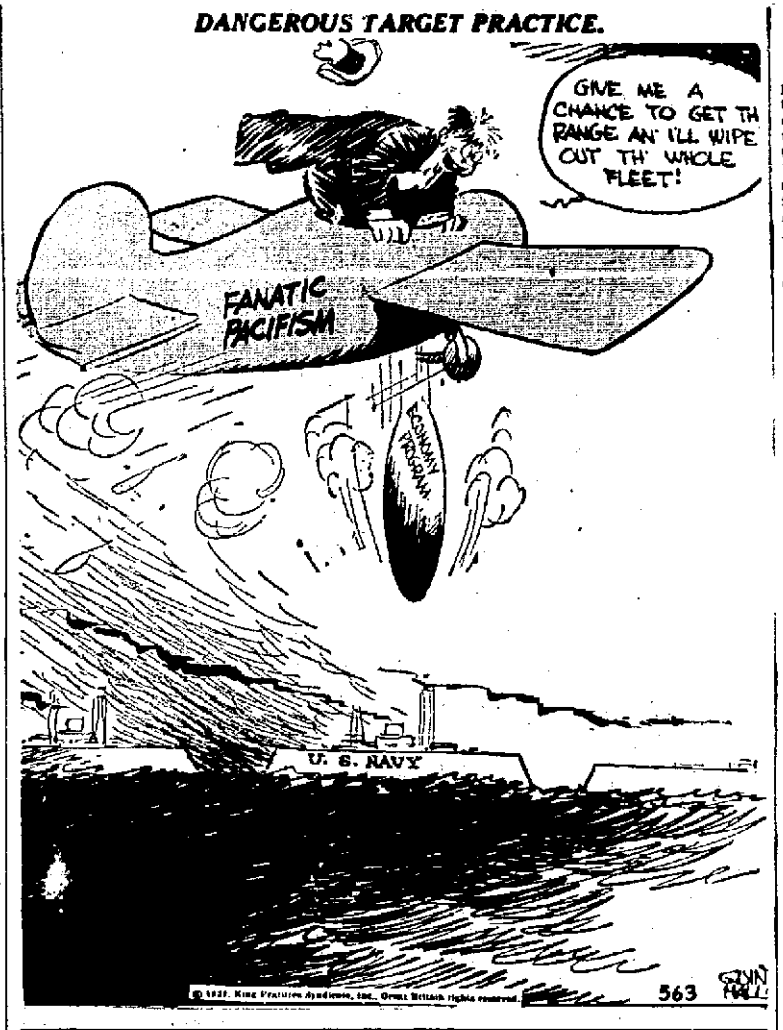
All this was anticipated when the legislature established the five-day notice safeguard about marriage. It was known that Gretna Greens would spring up "across the river," but the law was passed in spite of misgivings concerning this by-product. Judges who persist in making their interest appear commercial by referring to the "marriage license business," opposed its passage. They have no right, of course, to balk its operation.

It requires courage to take a first step. Ohio, whose legislators apparently believe that marriage is too important a social institution to be commercialized at the expense of principle, dared to impose a restriction which, if imposed universally, would do a vast deal to discourage runaway and drunken marriages. The restriction is doing no harm to any one but those who are losing marriage fees and, where it is being enforced properly, is doing considerable good. Is it hoping too much to believe that Ohio's neighbors may follow the example eventually?

The weatherman may have meant well, but his stunt of hiding the hunter's moon behind a curtain of clouds, he can take it from us, is no broad highway to public appreciation.

The world may recall Josie Mansfield, who died in Paris this week, as the cause of the shooting of Jim Fisk, Jr., railroad magnate and stock plunger, by Edward S. Stokes in the Grand Central hotel in New York City back in 1872, but to the older people of Marion her death will recall the old private car, which served the Erie as the local depot two score years ago, which was reported to have been the one named by Colonel Fisk after her.

DANGEROUS TARGET PRACTICE.



Editorial Opinion.

THE ANNIVERSARY OF A MISTAKE.

With Minneapolis December wheat then selling at $1.27 a bushel in a free market, the federal farm board, just two years ago today, inaugurated the loan policy that has proved to be just one of its many grave mistakes.

Under that policy, wheat held by qualified cooperatives could be put up as security for government loans on a basis of $1.25 a bushel, Minneapolis. The purpose of the lending, as stated by the board at the time, was to permit withholding grain "from the present depressed market with the hope of obtaining better price later." The statement insisted that, "based on known world supply, the present prevailing prices for wheat are too low." It voiced the belief that a price level it called unsatisfactory was "chiefly due to the rapid or disorderly movement which is putting a large part of the year's supply of wheat on the market within a short time."

And Chairman Alexander Legge, on November 7, supplemented this statement with another, in which he said:

"Any one selling wheat or cotton at the present market prices is foolish. I do not think there is any danger of wheat prices dropping below the loan level for any length of time."

These loans, because they could be obtained only by farmers and farmer elevators willing to abandon their old marketing arrangements with private grain dealers, undoubtedly served as a club for the drubbing of a private trade which had been giving the farmer better service than any government sponsored cooperative has ever been able to provide.

This promise of loans, because it was supposedly good "until the close of the marketing season," but was broken long before that date, undoubtedly caused many farmers to hold their unpawned grain until it was too late either to sell it as the relatively high price of the autumn of 1929, or to pledge it for loans at the fixed price.

This assertion that wheat prices were lower than the situation warranted, this assurance that they would soon go higher, undoubtedly retarded the curtailment of production which would have really stiffened prices.

And this concerted holding of American wheat off the market undoubtedly cost the American farmer the loss of a large share of his former export outlet. His old customers abroad, finding they could not get American wheat in normal volume unless selling to bid up the price, naturally turned to other sources of supply, including their own domestic plowlands.

Why was all this damage done? Simply because the farm board swallowed the old Townley-Equity myth that the marketing of grain through sale and hedge, with the speculator carrying risk of a fall in price, was a confidence game in which the cards were stacked against the grower.

We believe the farmer has learned his lesson. We doubt that the farm board has, in spite of the fact that the $1.27 a bushel, which was called too low by Chairman Legge two years ago, would seem a magnificent return to the producer, in comparison with today's wheat values.—Minneapolis Journal, October 26.

A LINE ON MR. NORMAN.

Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, must surely be the only banker of world eminence to wear soft collars, a sparkling emerald tie pin, a loosely flowing tie, a broad brimmed black hat, trousers tighter than are fashionable, with pockets cut across.

At the bank he is popular. A young employe, finding him wandering round the bank in his most informal dress and not knowing who he was, told him to mind his own business; Mr. Norman took no measures.

On his return from the Boer war he was received at the village of his home with rejoicings, and they pushed his carriage from the station to his house. When they got there they found that the carriage was empty. He had got out and had been helping to push.

Only twice has he been publicly interviewed by the press. The first time was when he returned from America in 1926. He said: "My mind is a complete vacuum." The second was his recent utterance: "Don't believe all you hear." In interviews of a business nature he will sit immobile and silent while the other man has his say. Then in a few, a very few well-chosen words, he will give his decision.—Living Age.

Not Only Willing, but Doing It.

Tokyo is ready to talk the matter over with itself while China listens.—Dayton Journal.

The Word of God.

Let all those that seek Thee rejoice and be glad in Thee; and let such as love Thy salvation say continually, Let God be magnified.—Psalm 70:4.

Combatting Pellegra.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Pellagra has been known for nearly 200 years. It is only recently, however, that its real cause has become known. It is a disease which involves the skin, but, what is more important, it causes marked disturbances of the general health.

At one time it was believed to be due to an infection. Now it is known that infection plays no part in its production.

The ordinary sanitary and hygienic measures which are commonly employed against the transmission of disease do not help to control pellagra. The United States public health service has shown that this disease is founded on faulty diet.

Pellagra is caused by an inadequate supply of certain food elements, particularly those containing necessary vitamins. When these foods are lacking in the diet the trouble follows. It is because of this fact that this disease is classified with those spoken of as the "vitamin deficiency diseases."

Scurvy and rickets are similar diseases. Scurvy occurs if the food does not contain vitamin C. Rickets is produced where there is a lack of vitamin D. Any diet which does not supply a sufficient amount of vitamin G will cause pellagra.

Such foods as fresh, lean meats; lard, milk, canned salmon and commercial wheat germ have been found to be exceedingly rich in this protective vitamin. Eggs, canned haddock, dried beans, soy beans, dried milk and tomatoes have been found of value in guarding against this disease. But they must be consumed in considerable quantities in order to supply the necessary amounts of vitamin G.

Corn products, wheat flour, rye flour, oatmeal, salt pork, the commercial lard substitutes, butter, carrots, turnips, onions, sweet potatoes and white rice are exceedingly poor in their content of this vitamin. It has been observed repeatedly that individuals whose diet consists essentially of those foods are likely to show signs of pellagra.

In most sections of this country the diet is a variable one and insures an adequate supply of the necessary elements. That is why pellagra is not so common here as it is abroad.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

A.E.M. Q—What is the cause of poor circulation and what will clear up the trouble?

2—What are the symptoms of anemia — is there a cure for it?

A—Improve your general health and your circulation will benefit. Poor circulation may be due to several causes. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2—Anemia would be apt to cause weakness, pallor, circles beneath the eyes, lack of energy, etc. Improvement in the general health will increase the blood supply and benefit the entire system. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

G.R.M. Q—What do you advise for low vitality and very little strength?

A—You should try to build up the general health first of all. Eat plenty of good nourishing food, including milk and eggs. Exercise daily in the fresh air and practice deep breathing. Take cod liver oil as a general tonic and builder.

G.S. Q—Can you tell me whether or not the electrolysis treatment for superfluous hair on the arms and legs would prove harmful or dangerous to the body?

A—If done by a competent operator such treatment should be perfectly harmless. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.—Copyright, 1931, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally, if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this paper.

Dinner Stories.

"Are you always sure you are right before you go ahead?"

"Not absolutely," admitted Senator Sorghum. "Yet you never hesitate about expressing yourself."

"That is by way of studying reactions. Statesmanship is something like laboratory work. You may have to conduct a lot of experiments before you can be sure you have hit on the right idea."

Scientific Genius.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

That is a juvenile conception of genius which presumes that great ideas and revolutionary theories just happen to people because they are geniuses. Behind every epochal idea, every transforming hypothesis, lies a long train of thought, usually not by one thinker alone, but by many thinkers. It is frequently the business of the genius to integrate, to put together into a coherent whole, apparently disconnected ideas and theories worked out by others. It is the genius who can divine the underlying connection, the fundamental unity, of these ideas, and reveal their relationship to each other.

Great thoughts, profound ideas, come only after long reflection and intensive contemplation. The scientist, by hard work, confers a genuine service upon mankind. The taking of pains is by no means all of genius; but it is certainly an initial and indispensable requirement. Carlyle is usually misquoted. What he actually said is: "Genius is the capacity for taking pains, first of all. You can not get anywhere unless you are willing to dig, to work, to think long and hard." Jacobi, who has been called the greatest mathematical teacher of his generation, knew how to make the very best use of his time. "It must not be supposed," he observed, "that it is to a gift of nature that I owe such mathematical power as I possess. No, it has come by hard work, hard work. Not mere industry, but brain-splitting thinking—hard work. Hard work that has often endangered my health."

In his stimulating work, "Discovery," Sir Richard Gregory cites the striking illustration of the indefatigable and unself-seeking Simon Newcomb, American astronomer. Some years ago the leading astronomers in the United States were asked to set down in order of preference the names of living Americans who had contributed most to the progress of astronomy. The name which headed all the lists was that of Simon Newcomb, yet he made no discovery in astronomy to which the periodical press would give prominence. Far greater, however, than the observation of a new star, planet, or comet, was the exceedingly laborious computations made and directed by Newcomb to enable the positions of the sun, moon, planets, and some of the fixed stars to be predicted with greater accuracy than had hitherto been the case. This was the work which gave him the first place in the esteem of men who were best able to judge its value to astronomical science.

To be a successful votary of nature, one must constantly worship at her shrine. Patient observation and persistent inquiry are requisite to the production of valuable results. For every fruitful idea which Farraday evolved, he probably rejected a dozen. As he himself has said, "The world little knows how many of the thoughts and theories which have passed through the mind of a scientific investigator have been crushed in silence and secrecy by his own severe criticism and adverse examinations; that in the most successful instances not a tenth of the suggestions, the hopes, the wishes, the preliminary conclusions have been realized."—Copyright, 1931, International Features Service, Inc.

Howe's First Tour of Ohio.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

It was a matter of satisfaction and pride to the late Henry Howe, Ohio historian, that on his first tour of Ohio, gathering material for his "Historical Collection of Ohio" he met and talked with so many of the prominent men of the early days of the state, most of whom passed away before he himself reached middle life.

He met Jacob Burnet, leader in the work of the first constitutional convention of the state, though not a member of it, United States senator and author of notes on the early settlement of the Northwest territory. He was entertained at dinner by Judge Burnet, when Henry Clay was also a guest there. He met the Cary sisters, Phoebe and Alice, when they were just coming into fame as writers of verse. At Marietta he talked with Dr. S. P. Hildreth, the early Ohio historian. At Chillicothe he met that other noted early Ohio historian, Caleb Atwater. He talked with Thomas Ewing, Tom Corwin and William Allen.

These persons were already more or less noted and he was drawn to them by that fact. But there were many others who came later to be prominent, whom he accidentally fell in with. In the office of the Cleveland Herald he saw a young man, scarcely of age, talking about a political matter with great earnestness and enthusiasm. It was George Hoadly, later to become a noted jurist, and governor of the state.

At Athens he saw "Sunset" Cox, then a student in Ohio university; and of course still unknown. Cox was deeply interested in art then, and was attracted to Howe by his skill in sketching for his book. At Cincinnati he met Alphonse Taft, father of the late Chief Justice Taft. But that was rather the renewal of a former acquaintance. Taft being, like Howe, a native of Connecticut. Riding on a train in northern Ohio he accidentally became a seat-passenger with John Sherman, then a sedate young man, interested in politics, but still unknown. In one interior town the young man who showed him about the place was none other than Rutherford B. Hayes, later to become President of the United States.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 30—Thoughts while strolling.—Fay Marbe has the blackest tan of the year. The tall Luigi Rothschild, who sports a monocle so jauntily. Just what color is Hope Hampton's hair? John Anderson and George Jean Nathan, the critics, could pose for the collar ads.

I always feel suddenly poor when I see a uniformed butler. Earl Benham in his usual hurry. They say Conrad Nagel was once bald. No one can look so depressingly solemn as Theodore Dreiser. But Jack Wheeler runs him a close race. Bill Guard's blackthorn cane.

Frank Case, a Buffalo, New York, boy, who made good in the city. Monta Bell and Gary Cooper walk alike. Sight-seeing charabancs for Chinatown have top-hatted decoys at night. And a movie lurker using a megaphone spattered with silver dust. Mrs. Will Hays' peach-blown complexion.

Hurdy gurdies grinding out "Meet the Mrs." already. Laurence Stallings shoots craps for exercise. Cigar store sign: "Come back prosperity. All is forgiven." Motor car beggars now open doors and brusquely demand alms. And slam doors if they don't get it.

And I would, too, if hungry. You'd never recognize Harpo Marx off stage. A Broadway type—hennaed lady in vivid green, cheap jewelry and backstage talk. And in constant touch with syster lawyers. Bright-eyed Queenie Smith—the newest Rialto toast.

Whatever became of Charles Purcell? And Paul Frawley? And some other handsome juveniles of a few years ago. Nobody has dreamier eyes than Ruby Keeler. And Gladys Glad remains the season's most beautiful show girl. Norman Anthony, whose crack weekly—started with $500—now sells more than a million.

Daddy Browning eats a plate of celery before each meal. Fulton Oursler is an amateur ventriloquist. Has dummies in his office and practices in leisure moments. The New Yorker, with the most intriguing name—Foxhall Keene. Eighth Avenue window sign: "Men's dress shirts for a dime during sale only." Quit pushing!

When Mayor Walker was a guest of American newspapermen in Paris he shocked official dignity, sat at the piano and played favorite tunes and otherwise indulged high jinks even to joining lustily in the Arthur Moss version of the old song thusly:

Yenst Side, Wet Side,
All around the town,
Mulrooney's in swimming at Coney,
Brooklyn cops are falling down,
Boys and girls together,
Jean Norris and Mickey O'Rourke,
Sam Hofstadter's getting sarcastic on The Sidewalks of New York.

Perhaps the obliging Mr. Adams will now tell us how to spell his own name.

They were discussing clowning by paragraphers. My notion of the most hilarious from the New Yorker follows:

"Schenectady Flashes Picture to Australia: Gets It Back in One-Eighth of a Second.—Headline in the Times."

The New Yorker commented: "They'll think twice before they do that again."

All over town little Ragged Dicks, of the Horatio Alger period, are showing up with shine boxes to bestow the nickel polish. The dime shine is out like a light. So much so big barber shops have reduced rag flicking forces by more than half.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER.

Washington, Oct. 30—That newly-won Democratic victory in the Seventh congressional district of Missouri might, after all, be an indication as to how the political winds are blowing.

On the face of it, a good many people out in those parts apparently have undergone a change of heart within the last year.

Twice within that space of time John W. Palmer, who held that seat in the last congress, has been defeated.

Last November he was nosed out in the election by a majority of 2,579 votes. Now Robert D. Johnson, self-styled "fighting Democrat," comes along and gives him a drubbing—this time by an approximate 9,000 majority.

The presence of a third candidate in this last election—a Democrat running as an independent—seems to have altered the situation but little.

Some observers predicted that in a three-cornered race such as this it would be difficult to interpret the result as a test of Republican and Democratic sentiment.

The third candidate, however, ran such a poor third—polling fewer than 4,000 votes—that this hardly seems to hold true. In fact, it is logical to think that inasmuch as he was a Democrat, his presence in the race merely served to lessen the margin of victory for Johnson.

Judged from the national angle, Johnson's victory serves as an indication of which way the pendulum swings only in the size of his majority.

The district is normally Democratic by 1,500 to 3,000 votes. In the last seven elections a Democrat has won five times.

Ordinarily the acquisition of Johnson on the Democratic side of the house chamber would be generally hailed with delight. But there are some important Democrats who might have preferred to see the party lose out in the Missouri contest.

From the standpoint of party strategy on the eve of a presidential election year, these Democrats are not enthusiastic over the possibility of controlling the house in the approaching congress. They reason that a position of offense in the coming months is more to be desired than one of defense.

With the Democrats controlling the house, and the Republicans in control of the senate and the White House, a most serious problem of leadership would be raised.

COLORED LIGHTS SOOTHE NERVES

By United Press

PARIS—The use of colored lights to soothe jangled nerves and insane minds has been recommended here by psychologists attending the International Psycho - Therapeutic Congress.

Blue was described as the best color to induce a cool, calm, calculating state of mind, while red was advised for those in need of stimulation A green background was said to be the best for prolonged tranquility Black was banned as having a depressing effect upon the mind.

The practicability of decorating offices in colors that would best suit the mentality of the business men concerned was discussed It was suggested that asylums should have different colored rooms for different states of neurotic minds. Prison life would be less dismal, it was said, if the walls and bars were painted green or blue.

Dr. Jean Potheau, of Nice, told how many thermal resorts in France are utilizing the action of vari-colored rays

RECORD POTATO RAISER

By International News Service

DEL NORTE Colo—The United States bureau of crop and livestock estimates has notified John Gredig that he had established a new production record when he harvested 1,609 bushels of potatoes from one acre of ground. Edward Fasst, a farmer living near Montrose, Colo., had the previous record of 677 bushels Gredig's success was especially notable in view of unfavorable weather conditions which prevailed during the growing season

NEW RAIL HEAD

Walter S. Franklin (above) is rapidly approaching the king row in what happens to be a game of "railroad checkers." He was president of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton road; now he has been made president of the Wabash railroad. Close followers of railroad affairs believe Franklin may succeed Gen. W. W. Atterbury as head of the Pennsylvania system when the latter retires in about 18 months.

MEDAL AUTHORIZED

BOSTON—A replica of the gold medal awarded to General George Washington—the only medal ever awarded him—by act of the Continental Congress of 1776 has been adopted by the Boston George Washington bicentennial committee as their symbol in relation to the 200th anniversary of the birth of the first President. In 1876—one hundred years after the medal was awarded to Washington—it came into the possession of this city and is now preserved in the Boston Public Library. After exchanging several hands the medal was purchased by a group of local citizens and presented for deposit in the library.

SCHOOL-TRAINED MEN LEAD IN PAY SCALE

Engineers from Technical Colleges Found Leading Those of Less Education.

By International News Service

NEW YORK—Engineers trained in technical colleges earn approximately $500 more a year than men with inferior training between the ages of 25 and 35, according to a report of a survey by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Men with the engineering B. S. degree continue to hold this lead over sub-collegiate and non-technical men even in the later age groups, the report declares.

"After 55" the report continued, "men with graduate training earn less than men with standard engineering school training, possibly due to the fact that they tend to stay in strictly research positions and do not become executives.

"Apart from teaching and railroads," the report asserts, "it makes relatively little difference what industry a man goes into. If, however, he cannot combine with his technical skill a generous capacity to deal with and manage men and affairs, either as a manager of some branch of work in an industrial organization or as a man managing his own business as a consultant, his chances of earning a high salary are reduced."

"After 55, we have adequate figures on only five industries. Contracting and machinery manufacturing give the largest earnings. Municipal manufacturing drops off the list, but does not reach as low a level as power machinery manufacturing. Electrical machinery manufacturing goes down in power machinery manufacturing, and equal place in steam manufacturing.

"Teaching shows a somewhat lower earning power than technical work between the ages of 35 and 45, and a distinctly higher earning power after 55."

"Managers, executives, and business show little falling off in old age, the report says, but the opposite, research men, engineering and engineering [illegible] drop after 55."

LIBERATED SKUNK SHOWS GRATITUDE

By United Press

CONCORD, Mass. — Edmund Horton's friends will tell you he is a brave man and Edmund will tell you even skunks are not without a sense of gratitude.

A skunk, with its head jammed into a preserve glass, paused before Edmund in historic Monument Square and indicated by clawing frantically at the glass that it wanted freedom. A crowd gathered at a distance and someone called police.

The policeman explained he was helpless because he was wearing a new uniform and a skunk could not be expected to appreciate the cost of getting another.

Edmund doffed coat, hat and necktie but reluctantly retained his trousers. He grasped the glass and lifting the skunk high, shook it until it fell to the ground while Edmund held the glass in his hand.

The crowd gasped and scattered, holding noses. But the skunk proved it had the finer feelings commonly conceded only to animals of more polite repute by quietly leaving the square and Edmund unmolested and unscented.

LUNGS TREATED LIKE AUTO TIRE

By United Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Every adult probably has had tuberculosis some time in life, according to Dr. Alton Ochsner, of New Orleans. At the time he thought he had a cold, and natural resistance disposed of the case, he believes.

Dr. Ochsner is professor of surgery at Tulane university, a post he has held five years. He visited Kansas City as a delegate to the fall conference of the Kansas City Southwest Clinical society.

Jokingly, he explained that his hobby was in letting the air out of somebody's lungs. He went on to say that the principle followed in treating some cases of tuberculosis is to collapse one lung. Unused, the diseased part has a chance to heal.

One method of collapsing a lung, he said, was to inject air that creates an outside pressure greater than the inside pressure of the lung. Like a leaky tire, the patient has to be pumped up every few days. When the lung is healed, the air is let out and the lung expands.

On Honor Roll.

Miss Rita F. Van Meter of Moral, a graduate of Harding High school in the class of '27, and a junior at Muskingum College at New Concord, O., is among the 46 honor grade students for the second semester of last year. Nearly twice as many women students were named as men. The list, released by Dr. R. W. Ogan, dean of the college, numbers 46 students, 30 of whom are co-eds.

Firemen Answer Call.

Firemen from the central and No. 3 stations answered a call from the home of R. R. Gorrell of 367 north Prospect street shortly after 9 a. m. today when a smoking furnace caused members of the family to believe the house was on fire. No damage resulted.

Galion Car Stolen.

The theft of a Ford coupe from the street in that city, was reported to the police by the police department at Galion last night. The missing car was a 1923 model and carried Ohio license 230-309 and motor number 6118836.
